yes, the freight company that has the products called me today...I gave them your number to call you and set up the delivery...I just figured it was easier for you to tell them when you would be there...I think he said he can go any day this week between 2-6:00 but he must have a signature. I don't have a number for this guy...it came in as a blocked call...he will probably call you tomorrow then. be on the lookout for a call!
