Absolutely this is too important. "If you possibly think you are not happy, then you are not," said Yoda. Send it back. No settling ok....yes, I showed him the stone for the fireplace..he says he does it, no problem. Only thing is, I think the stone looks greenish also! I contacted Vicki on it and she says I can bring in the sample stone in this friday and we can compare to what was shipped. I worry...I really want it to be grey not green! I didn't speak about returning it per se but I have put out the word that I'm not 100% happy with it. I want to talk later today after my boss leaves at 12:30...i'll call you...i want an update :)

About the same. They never like tearing apart their work. This guy will have a better attitude and maybe I can get him to do the fireplace. Book him Dano

Hello [REDACTED]

First of all, I did small mistake while I how counting sf of the tile you already have. Instead of 100 sf we counted before, we have only 74sf. I'm sorry for this mistake. It seems like we will need a 3 more boxes.

Now, my price for redoing area around a bathtub is $1050. This price includes demolition of existing tile, installation of new cementboard, cementboard itself, installation of new tile and grouting.

The whole project should take 3 - 3,5 days maximum.

Please feel free to call me if you have any questions.

Hi Rafal..just reconfirming I will see you today at our home at 11am to look at the tile work. The house is located at [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]..I park on the left hand side of the house (there is a little street called [REDACTED] Lane...I will park there, not the driveway that is located off of [REDACTED])

See you there!

[REDACTED]

Thanks,
