I am finally through it.

I was still lying on the floor in puke this morning at 4am.

I have never experienced anything like this. It was like my body was constan=ly on the feeling right before you throw up for 24 hours. There was no proc=ss of knowing you are going to be sick, walking to the bathroom and being s=ck like a normal person. It was just all at once with no warning. And throu=h my nose as well ☺. Early this morning I thought I might die fr=m choking. My body kept wreching for ages with nothing in it.

Anyway it is done. I hope as few people in the city as possible get it.

Today is incredible like the calm after the storm :)))) I am just very slow a=d sore but thrilled that it is over.
