Excellent, thanks. On the residence, as long as agents can secure it, we're fine - let's make sure FBI has a better plan to send folks over there as soon as he is in custody.

I just got a call from one of our agents at FBI, who told me that she received a CBP alert that Epstein is scheduled to fly from Paris to Teterboro airport tomorrow, landing at around 5:30. She said the agents plan to be ready at the airport before the flight arrives, and that they intend to coordinate with CBP so that he is held upon arrival. Given the timing, we expect this would be a Monday presentment.

The agents plan to execute the search warrant at the NYC residence immediately following the arrest on Saturday night—I'm about to reach out to the duty magistrate in the hopes of swearing it out today.

Regarding approaches, I checked with our agent and she told me that they should be able to make approaches starting on Sunday morning.

I'll keep everyone updated—

Thanks,
