Here are my proposed edits and comments. A bunch of my comments are the same as yours, or propose ways to address things you flagged – but I do think at least some of your comments are outstanding. Rather than me trying to decide which ones need further response, would you like to take a look at this and then add any additional comments?

Ok, if helpful, my comment bubbles are in the attached.

I just read through them in hard copy, and then am going to suggest some changes in track tomorrow (if we ever have time between what is now a packed calendar). I'm happy to add them on top of yours, or send to you when done, either way.

I've taken a first pass through the MILs. I didn't line edit, figuring you would do so, but put general comments in bubbles for certain sections/arguments. I can forward that to you, or wait until I see your comments and add any of mine that remain. Overall I think it could be tighter but they are on the right track.

Hey [REDACTED]

Attached are drafts of most of the Maxwell MILs. This draft has all but two of the motions and the front matter.

We're planning to do a careful proofread, but thought we should just get these to you now rather than wait for that. All comments are more than welcome, of course.

Thanks,
