The article has a fairly generic quote from a U.S. government official about the "close, productive relationship" between our countries on MLAT matters. That was a comment from the State Department, which was run by us before it was given. There is also a statement that "[t]hat office," referring to SDNY, "sought to pile pressure on Andrew this month by reporting that Andrew was a 'person of interest' in the Epstein probe and was considered 'at least' a witness." I do not know what that is a reference too, and I checked with the team, who does not know either.

Best,

Did we take the action referenced in the article?

Fine if we did.
