Hello – attached are the pages [REDACTED] sent me to provide to you. Here is a bit of an explanation and I also asked her to take a copy of the front and back of the journal book which she did. Hope this helps. Please let me know if you need anything else:

“The shortest page and the one that is the hardest to read is the first entry from 12/95. It is written in colored pencil and is fading. There are then two pages from 01/07/1996 where I talk about the highlights of my NY trip and going to Epstein's house and then the next entry from 01/25/1996 is where I talk about going to the movies with him.”

Best,

Thanks very much, [REDACTED]. Yes, we received the photographs from [REDACTED], which we very much appreciate. Anything else she is willing to share, including her journal entries, would be very helpful.

Hello [REDACTED],

Let me follow up with [REDACTED] about her journal. I know she shared some pictures with you from around the time period when she was with Epstein/Maxwell. I will ask her about the journal ASAP and will get back to you and will check with her to see if she has anything else that might be helpful to the investigation.

All my best,

Hi [REDACTED],

Hope you had a wonderful holiday season and very happy New Year. We wanted to follow up on a request we made after interviewing [REDACTED] a few months ago. During her interview, [REDACTED] referred to several entries in her journal that had helped refresh her recollection of the events involving Epstein and Maxwell. As we mentioned at the end of the interview, it would be very helpful to our investigation if we could review those journal entries, as well as any other records or documents [REDACTED] may have that relate to her experiences with Epstein and Maxwell.

Would [REDACTED] be willing to share with us any relevant journal entries (or any other relevant documents she may have) to assist in our investigation?

Happy to have a call to discuss if that would be helpful.

Thank you,

[REDACTED]
