[REDACTED] got time served last week. He told his Probation Officer that media outlets are looking to talk to him about Epstein. He of course wants to do it because he thinks he can make some money from it. I don't think we can really take any position on that or forbid him from media contact, but let me know if you guys have any thoughts, and/or if you think this is a [REDACTED] issue (or something we should raise with anyone else). It really won't affect my cases, but to the extent it will matter to anyone else, there's a chance we'll see him popping up in news stories.
