[REDACTED]

My apologies for not getting back to you following my meeting with [REDACTED] yesterday, but it took until today to get a final response from [REDACTED]. She is willing to commit to testify but she definitely wants her husband and children with her when in NY for trial in July. While she does not presently have the ability to finance her family's travel at this time, she might be willing and able to set aside funds she might receive from the Epstein Victims' Compensation Fund to at least partially defray related expenses. Please let us know what commitment the government is able to make in this regard. I hope your trip home went smoothly.

Hi [REDACTED],
Any word from [REDACTED]? Apologies for pestering, but there are a number of steps we'll need to take in the near term if we are going to expand our case to include [REDACTED] testimony.
Thanks very much,
Maurene

It was a pleasure to see you in person last week. Thank you for being so accommodating and kind during my trip down to Florida.
I'm just checking in to see whether [REDACTED] has made a decision about whether she would be willing to testify at our trial. And, of course, I am happy to have a call to discuss or answer any questions if that would be useful.
Best,
