

From: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Subpoena CRIM1031692
Date: Tue, 20 Aug 2019 20:48:33 +0000

---

Hi, [REDACTED] I have conflicts early and late tomorrow, but perhaps we could speak Thursday morning? Would 10:30am PT (1:30pm ET) on Thursday work for you?

Thanks,
[REDACTED]

---

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Tuesday, August 20, 2019 7:10 AM
To: [REDACTED]
Cc: [REDACTED] >
Subject: RE: Subpoena [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Is there is a good time for a call tomorrow to discuss? I'm tied up between 2 and 5 EST, but otherwise available.

Thanks,
[REDACTED]

---

From: [REDACTED] <[\[REDACTED\]@gov](#)>
Sent: Thursday, August 15, 2019 2:43 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Subpoena CRIM1031692

[REDACTED] with apologies for shuttling you back and forth, due to my upcoming trial my colleague [REDACTED] copied, will be in a better position to follow up with you. I updated her on our conversation, in particular that you expected to send us some authority for Amazon's prior position, and also that you were in the process of evaluating whether any First Amendment considerations were still active given the death of Mr. Epstein. I've also conveyed to her the issue you raised of the overbreadth of any request for all information for all accounts having ever shipped to, or billed in connection with, the listed addresses, and our interest in at the very least getting account information for any accounts that include those addresses—and, more generally, the records of items shipped to those addresses, to the extent all such records were not included in the first production. Again, sorry to be switching given our lengthy conversation, but [REDACTED] will better be able to be in touch with you in the coming days.

thanks,
[REDACTED]

---

From: [REDACTED] >
Sent: Wednesday, August 14, 2019 02:09
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Subpoena CRIM [REDACTED]

