During a call with [REDACTED] about logistics for an interview with [REDACTED] this week, I provided a high-level overview of some of the topics we planned to discuss. [REDACTED] briefly explained, by way of attorney proffer, that her client did not observe anything that at the time she thought was inappropriate or illegal, but that she was happy to answer questions. I asked whether her client was aware of any young women or girls around Epstein. I did not mention any specific names. In response, [REDACTED] noted that her client remembered someone named [REDACTED] and recalled that [REDACTED] family was well known in Sweden. I explained that we would want to ask questions about [REDACTED] memories of [REDACTED].
