Team, really excellent work on this, thank you. Our combined edits are attached. There's one item that we'd like to discuss that [REDACTED] flagged – happy to do so when convenient.

When you've turned these edits, do you mind circulating a redline for our final review? We're generally around tomorrow so anytime then is fine.

Attached for your review is a draft of our opposition to Maxwell's supplemental pre-trial motions, as well as the defense's brief.

Thanks,

Ok, thanks for the update. The Brass does not need to review this, so that should definitely be enough time for the two of us to review.

As an update, the team is running behind on this, but we plan to get you a draft by the end of the day tomorrow, if that works. It's due on Friday, and we expect it'll come in under 25 pages.

Thanks,

Thanks [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and I are good with that timing, thanks for letting us know. We will confirm whether or not the Brass wants to review this in advance of filing as well.

Following up on this, the team had a chance to chat about the motions, and for planning purposes we're aiming to get you a draft by May 18th, if that works. The motions are due on May 21st. Thanks!

[REDACTED], an [REDACTED]

The defendant's supplemental pretrial motions (regarding the superseder) were filed yesterday, and I'm attaching the brief here. The team is reviewing this weekend and will reach out early next week about our game plan for responding. Our opposition is due on May 21st.

Thanks,
