Thanks, [REDACTED]. I'll reach out to him (and chastise him for his attempt to contact you outside of the proper channels).

Hi,

I received the below email from someone claiming to be a reporter to my personal email account. Doubt any of these should be commented on (just so you know, the picture he asked about is of [REDACTED] not me), but wanted to pass along so you're aware.

Thanks,
[REDACTED]

Hi [REDACTED],

My name is Ben Goggin, I'm writing a story for Business Insider about your participation in the prosecution of Jeffrey Epstein and wanted to ask you a few questions. I'll list them here but feel free to call me ([REDACTED]).

*can you confirm that you are 30 years old?

*can you respond to criticisms that you have a conflict of interest due to your father, your past political donations, or your reported attendance of the women's march? Is the picture on this blog you?

*can you comment on your work at Debevoise & Plimpton LLP?

*can you elaborate on what happened in the 2016 case against the camp counselor who allegedly solicited nude photos from a middle schooler? Why did he plead to a lesser charge?

Thank you!

Best,

--
