Dear Jeff:

I want to personally express my appreciation for your recent gift to Interlochen of $1,000.00. Through your support and generosity, Interlochen is better able to achieve its mission in educating young people interested in the arts.

We are coming to the close of our academic year with many wonderful memories of 1991-92 at the Interlochen Arts Academy. Our symphony performance at the Ronald McDonald Children's Charities Ball and the performance of the choir and orchestra at Lincoln Center in New York are but a few of the extraordinary events that occurred. These things are made possible because you and others share our values and believe in our direction.

I hope that you will join us this summer as we celebrate our 65th anniversary year with a "Gold Medal Summer." It will feature over 400 concerts and performances, many highlighting Interlochen's own stars, the students.

On behalf of all of us at Interlochen, thank you again!

With warm regards,

Dean

Dear Jeff:

Thank you for your contribution of $3,000 toward the reception at the Empire Hotel that preceded the Academy orchestra and choir performance at Alice Tully Hall February 6. Much of our success comes from the strong and friendly work of alumni like you.

We were so proud of our students. Altogether, well over 3,000 friends of Interlochen attended the concerts at Interlochen, Detroit, and New York.

██████ joins me in expressing our warm regards and great appreciation.

Dear Jeff:

What a wonderful success the Mozart tour was! SRO in Interlochen. SRO in Detroit, with over 1,400 in attendance at St. Hugo's. And, a near sell-out in New York (960 out of 1,004 seats at Alice Tully Hall). By every measure it was a tremendous success, and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for Interlochen students!

We are grateful to you and many others who so generously supported the many aspects of this tour. We raised over $125,000; and, as I indicated, the money was well invested. Parents, friends, donors, and students all agree on the valuable experience this opportunity provided.

I am sorry you were out of town; you missed a wonderful concert. However, your presence was felt in the underwriting of the pre-concert reception. Several foundations and corporations were represented including: AT&T, Textron, Mott Foundation, as well as numerous major donors. The Radisson Empire did an outstanding job for us. And, your contribution helped Interlochen network with several new potential donors.

I have enclosed a copy of the bill totalling $5,530.78. Your original agreement was to cover 40 people. As the event drew closer, we invited those individuals that we felt would be appropriate, with the expectation that 50% would show up on a Thursday. As you can see by the invoice, eighty people attended and were treated to a wonderful buffet and dessert. The total of your commitment was for $2,765. If you had a good month and would like to do a little more, that would be fine also.

I have enclosed a few of the collateral pieces we used for the New York tour. You will be receiving, under separate cover, a tape recording of the concert as produced for WIAA radio in mid- to late-March.

On behalf of the students, we wish to say thank you for your continued generosity and support.

Sincerely,

Dear Jeffrey:

Fantastic!

Thank you for returning the signed pledge card indicating your acceptance of membership into The President's Club of Interlochen. And thank you for the Epstein Foundation's check in the amount of $10,000. Jeffrey Epstein continues to be full of surprises!

As you have perhaps read, our President's Club is a vibrant and active assemblage of which we at Interlochen are quite proud. It's an honor to add your name to the roster.

I do hope that you will be able to join us for the annual President's Club Weekend, this year to be held on August 13-15, 1993. I realize that you make plans to come back for Alumni Weekend but maybe two times this year? You will receive information shortly regarding all PC activities this summer.

The Club roster continues to grow steadily. The last few fiscal years have provided the most dramatic increase in membership since the inception of The President's Club in 1974.

Again, thanks for your continued support of the Center. I look forward to seeing you this summer.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can be of any further service.

Best regards,

P.S. A plaque will arrive shortly indicating your President's Club commitment. It will read: Mr. Jeffrey E. Epstein. Please let me know if any adjustments are necessary.

Dear Jeff:

Interlochen is grateful for the contribution from the J. Epstein Foundation in the amount of $15,000. This will be directed, as discussed, towards a scholarship lodge that incorporates wheelchair and handicap accessibility.

With your leadership gift, Interlochen can move forward on this important building project. Your support is most beneficial in planning for the future, since Interlochen looks forward to a barrier-free campus one day. We are appreciative of friends who realize that together unattainable goals can be realized!

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can answer further questions or help in any way.

Dear Jeff:

On behalf of Interlochen Center for the Arts, I would like to thank you for your generosity in providing private jet transportation for Itzhak Perlman to Interlochen's campus in August.

This generous gift will enable Interlochen to save over $12,000 in operational expenses. We have credited your in-kind gift to our annual fund and it's helping us move even closer to our overall fundraising goal this year.

I will look forward to seeing you on Interlochen's campus in just a few weeks. Please let me know if I can do anything to make your visit more pleasant.

Dear Jeffrey:

I have talked to you and Ghislaine on several occasions to say thank you. But, I wanted to express in writing my personal and professional gratitude for the very generous gift of $200,000 for a new scholarship lodge. It is truly an extraordinary gesture.

I thought an update would be appropriate at this time.

1. The contract with Town and Country has been executed and they have scheduled construction of the lodge.
2. We are waiting for the temperature to rise above 10-15 degrees so that we can move the existing buildings and set the foundation. (The June target date remains at this time.) Design and construction of the exterior walls is underway.
3. You have approved the latest set of drawings with the basement entrance as indicated and approved the green roof which works for us as well.
4. We are requesting furniture packages from local vendors that will be both aesthetic and functional for a rental lodge. When we receive the packages and corresponding quotes, we will send them on to Ghislaine for her comments and suggestions.
5. We anticipate setting aside all lodge income in the 1994 Camp season and placing the net income in an endowment fund so that subsequent repairs, maintenance and furniture replacement are funded through the endowment. All succeeding income will be placed into the Jeffrey Epstein Scholarship Fund for deserving and talented students. When awards are made, Interlochen will notify you, with respect to the recipients. The recipient will also be asked to communicate with the donor. If you would like to meet the students, we will help arrange a meeting on campus as well.

6. At present we are calling the lodge the "Jeffrey E. Epstein Scholarship Lodge." If you would like it named in another manner, please contact me with the appropriate name or wording.
7. Under the charitable contribution act, you are permitted use of the lodge for two weeks each year, without any negative implications in respect to the full tax deductibility of your gift. Naturally, we would like you to visit the new lodge this summer. So that we might begin to book the lodge, I would ask you to consider what two weeks you would like reserved for your use. Perlman will be giving his concert on August 7, 1994. I have enclosed the appropriate tax code for your file.

We have much to discuss as we move towards completion, but I thought this might be helpful.

Jeffrey, we really appreciate all that you do for Interlochen. Somehow thank you seems inadequate for your continued commitment and generosity. We are most grateful.

Dear Ghislaine:

Enclosed is the envelope we recently found in cleaning the Epstein Lodge. Apparently it lodged between the wall and the dresser. It was not discovered until the unit was moved for cleaning.

As we discussed, the final week of Camp is August 14 through the 20th. I have reserved the lodge for Jeffrey's use. In addition, he has one more week that he can reserve for himself or guests he may wish to have use it. Attached is a list of the dry goods that are in storage as part of Jeffrey's personal inventory. Please advise if we are missing any items you are aware of being sent here.

Please convey to Jeffrey how pleased we are to have such a facility on our campus. In fact, the President Elect will be staying in the lodge until his family's furniture arrives. It is a remarkable place. We are grateful.

Best wishes for a wonderful holiday season.

Dear Jeffrey:

It is not difficult to say thank you for your recent gift of $25,000, or to express our gratitude for your continuing generosity (for tax purposes, it should be noted that your contribution was received by Interlochen Center for the Arts in support of general operations. Interlochen has not provided any goods or services to you in exchange for your gift). But, it is difficult to adequately express our deep sense of appreciation for all that you have done in furthering the mission of Interlochen over the past four years. In addition to your personal and significant annual contributions, you have opened up and hosted several alumni meetings and receptions (our New York alumni group is now one of the strongest in the nation). It all began with our first meeting at the Villard House. Dr. Tuckerman's recent endowed gift in your honor speaks to your support and commitment to Interlochen.

Last year we built the Epstein Lodge, Interlochen's first scholarship lodge in many years. It is our premier guest accommodation and the first handicapped accessible facility. Most recently you gave your strong endorsement of Interlochen to the Ciralsky family as they investigated the Academy offerings for their daughter, [REDACTED].

You have done much in the name of Interlochen. We thank you. If I might borrow from my colleague Dr. Luby, you are a mensch!

Best wishes for a successful 1995.

Dear Jeffrey:

We gratefully accept and acknowledge your gift of $10,000 received 8/26/96. Your gift allows students to explore their potential as musicians, artists, and actors. Equipping students with the "Interlochen experience" provides self-discovery through self-discipline and challenge.

As you well know, camp is an intense, emotional 8 weeks for students. But, it is wonderful to listen as row after row of tiny practice rooms vibrate with the sounds of instrumentalists warming up in preparation of the day's audition, performance, or weekly challenge. It is our hope that as campers go home they will carry a little piece of Interlochen back to their communities with them.

Jeffrey, let me give my personal and professional thanks for all you do here at Interlochen. Your caring and thoughtful input in preserving Interlochen's physical environment is very much appreciated. The remaining amount of your gift will be directed to the Annual Fund. Thank you.

Dear Jeffrey:

Thank you for the gift of $20,000 received on 3/18/96 designated for the Olympics Fund. Your gift is the motivation for our excitement at Interlochen, because it is the springboard for the many things that are happening here.

As we've already shared with you, we are in great need of assistance this year, since the World Youth Symphony Orchestra will be traveling to Atlanta to perform in Symphony Hall on July 21 as a part of the opening weekend celebration in the Cultural Olympiad. Your gift will help provide support for this project. THANK YOU!

Another piece of good news--Interlochen has been announced as one of the "10 Best Camps in America" as published in the March/April edition of Family Life magazine. The Today Show on NBC expects to air a piece on the 10 best camps, with emphasis on choosing the correct one, what to consider, and what to expect. And, Interlochen will be included. So, the tradition of nurturing young talent to its fullest potential goes on...

Again, thank you for your generosity in selecting Interlochen as the recipient of your philanthropic endeavors.

Dear Jeffrey:

It is with great pleasure that I acknowledge your recent contribution to the Interlochen Annual Campaign. Please accept my personal thanks for your gift of $20,000 designated for the Olympic Project.

While we are still struggling through snow and cold days, summer is never far from our minds. This year, we have added 2 new programs: we will now offer a creative writing program and a chamber music program. However, our big news is that the World Youth Symphony Orchestra will be going to Atlanta to perform in the opening weekend of the Olympics.

Again, Ed Downing has been working his magic to present another record-setting Summer Festival Concert Series. I hope you will be able to visit our campus and attend these events.

Thank you again for including Interlochen in your annual philanthropy. Your gift will go directly toward helping talented and deserving students through our scholarship program.

Dear Jeffrey:

On behalf of the students, faculty, and staff of the Interlochen Center for the Arts, I would like to thank you for your contribution of $10,000 to our scholarship fund. The generosity of you and fellow donors enables us to offer artistic and academic opportunities to students from all nations, backgrounds, and cultural heritage.

The final camper concert, "Les Preludes," marks the conclusion of our 69th summer camp season. During the summer, over 1,800 campers participated in 4 and 8-week sessions with scholarship support totaling more than $800,000. Over 500 events during the 1996 Summer Arts Festival brought thousands of visitors to the campus. Just a few of the outstanding student performances during August include the high-schoolers' presentation of the operetta "Princess Ida" and the intermediate students' presentation of "Romeo and Juliet."

During the second weekend of August, concerto winners are recognized for their achievements by performing solos with the World Youth Symphony Orchestra. As you may have heard, WYSO was an outstanding representation for Interlochen at the Olympics through their highly-praised performance in Atlanta's Symphony Hall on July 21.

Thank you for joining us on campus and experiencing the magic of Interlochen first hand.

Dear Jeffrey:

On behalf of our students, faculty, and staff, I would like to thank you for your gift of $50,000 that was provided through the Philips Foundation.

Interlochen's 70th Camp season concluded with "Les Preludes" in the Interlochen Bowl on August 17. A $500,000 grant presented earlier that week by Michigan Governor John Engler will be used to upgrade performance venues, including renovations to the historic Bowl. Other construction projects include continuing work on the new Piano Building and Theater and beginning improvements on the first of the residence halls slated for renovation.

After breaking the $2 million mark for summer concert ticket sales, the fall season of the Interlochen Arts Festival begins with Grammy-award-winner pianist George Winston. Also appearing in September is organist Diane Bish, who will be performing in Dendros Chapel. With the opening of the 36th year of the high school Academy on September 13, presentations by student, faculty, and guest instructors will begin within a few weeks.

The ability to move forward on campus improvements, new programs, and the commitment to arts education is possible because of your generosity. Thank you again for your gift to Interlochen.

Dear Jeffrey:

On behalf of the Interlochen Center for the Arts, I'd like to thank you for your recent contribution of $1,500 to cover the Interlochen Alumni Event held in New York.

The excellence of our Academy students was evident with the recent selection of 5 seniors by ARTS, a national program that recognizes achievements in academics and arts. Award candidates participate in a week of workshops and interaction with 124 peers and panels of distinguished artists. Based on the adjudications, first level winners are nominated as Presidential Scholars and honored in Washington. Since 1980, Interlochen has had 29 Presidential Scholars--more than any other high school in the United States.

February activities include Winterlochen with parents and friends visiting for a Teacher Appreciation Reception, outdoor games, and orchestra performance with concerto winners. Student presentations include the theater division's production of "Into the Woods," brass and percussion ensemble performance, Black History Month celebration, and the Winter Dance Concert.

The progress of construction and renovation projects is visible with the closing in of the music building and exterior work on the newly-remodeled residence hall. Because of this winter's mild weather, we're hopeful that the new theater and music building will be ready by the time camp opens.

The generosity of our many friends makes new buildings and renovations a reality as well as the $4 million in financial aid we provide annually. Thanks again for your gift to Interlochen.

Sincerely,

Richard F. Odell
President

I heard it was a great event. The details of the campaign proposal we discussed will be finalized when I return from China 3/12

Dear Jeffrey:

Thank you for your contribution of $1,500 received 2/19/98 for Interlochen's Restricted Fund. Our goal is to produce quality and excellence in arts education. However, long-term success depends on those of you who provide financial assistance for us to carry out this mission. The seed of "a little camp in the woods," planted by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy in 1927 has grown throughout the years. Historical decades in a time capsule of the Camp's growth follows:

- The 20's--The National High School Orchestra Association Camp is established and considered a success and an artistic haven for young musicians.
- The 30's--CBS and NBC networks broadcast concerts to thousands of listeners spreading the word of Joseph Maddy's treasure in the woods.
- The 40's--Growth increases as a Dance Department is added, Fine Arts Building is dedicated, Kresge is completed, and Junior and Intermediate Divisions are established. The Camp became affiliated with the University of Michigan, By-laws were revised, and The National High School Orchestra Association officially became the National Music Camp
- The 50's--Construction included a new radio building, the Joseph E. Maddy Administration Building, Lochaven and Pinecrest (dining areas), all-in-all 104 buildings to-date. The Chamber Music Festival became part of the post-Camp offerings.
- The 60's--Like a flower blooming, the physical campus continued its steady growth with the addition of scholarship lodges and WIAA Public Radio. The Academy was established and classrooms were built to provide a proper educational environment.
- The 70's--Construction virtually came to a halt. Growth came through performances, as 139 concerts, programs and exhibitions were presented off-campus in 73 Michigan cities through the first "Interlochen Outreach" program. The National Music Camp celebrated its 50th season in 1977.
- The 80's--Presentations continued to grow in number and stature. Both on- and off-campus, international guest artists and ensembles performed. Academic excellence continued as the Academy celebrated its 25th year and the Camp, its 60th.
- The 90's--Repair and renovation of existing buildings and construction of a Music Building Complex is underway. Began in 1995, The Campaign for Interlochen included four elements: construction, renovation, scholarships and endowment, a plan designed to ensure the future of young artists attending Interlochen.

From the beginning a can-do spirit prevailed, allowing Interlochen Center for the Arts to grow into one of America's true cultural treasures. One that touches the lives of thousands of young people who assume worldwide leadership positions in the arts, education, business, and industry. Thank you for helping to make the impossible, possible! As a contributor, your gift will be counted toward the $45 million Campaign for Interlochen goal.

Sincerely,

Dear Jeffrey:

We are pleased to acknowledge a gift of $100,000 given in your honor by Firstmark Communications International, LLC. This is a significant statement and we are pleased to be the beneficiary of this largess. We thank Firstmark and we thank you for your continued involvement and generosity. Because of this gift, a number of very talented and financially deserving young people will have opportunity to share in the "spirit of Interlochen."

Mr. Jeffrey E. Epstein

[REDACTED]
New York, NY 10022-6809

Dear Mr. Epstein:

I am sending this letter today to confirm a conversation I had with [REDACTED] from your office and to update you on changes in policy within the fundraising arm of Interlochen.

Per my conversation with [REDACTED] we have designated $25,000 from your account here at Interlochen to be used to pay tuition and expenses for [REDACTED] senior year. Should you or her family receive any additional notices for payment from either our business office or admissions office, please disregard them.

Additionally, Mr. Epstein, we have recently gone through changes in policy on how and what we can record as a contribution. This policy revision has been debated at various levels over the past four years and was only recently approved at our February Board of Trustees Meeting.

As a 501(c)3 organization, Interlochen must be vigilant in being proper stewards of all contributions. In the past, it was part of our giving policy to accept as gifts, money given to fund a specific student as named by the donor. Your support has fallen within this category on various occasions and made it possible for deserving students to attend Interlochen while gaining a tax deduction for your contribution. This is a gesture that we look upon as very generous on your part.

Please be advised for future reference that Interlochen has discontinued the practice of accepting gifts that are restricted to a donor designated student. Funding from your account for [REDACTED] [REDACTED] has been grandfathered in. It is only proper that we honor your original intentions as discussed with Tim Ambrose.

It was our intention to discuss this change with you in person while President Downing and I were in New York in April. Unfortunately, our schedules did not allow for a meeting.

If you have any questions please can call me direct at [REDACTED] or I will be happy to discuss this with [REDACTED]

Thank you for your loyal support and I hope we can find new ways for your philanthropy to assist many students who wish to attend Interlochen.

Sincerely,

Russ McMahon

INTERLOCHEN CENTER FOR THE ARTS offers talented musicians, dancers, actors, visual artists and writers the opportunity to develop their abilities in a highly competitive community of peers. The curriculum is accelerated with special emphasis on character development and initiative.

Founded in 1927 by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, Interlochen was incorporated as a nonprofit educational organization in 1977. The corporation includes Interlochen Arts Academy, Interlochen Arts Camp and WIAA-FM/WIZY-FM public radio service.

INTERLOCHEN ARTS ACADEMY celebrates 30 years of excellence in arts and academics. Founded in 1962 as a winter program to complement the established arts camp, the academy enrolls 420 students in grades 9 through 12 and a postgraduate year. It features instruction in music, theater, dance, visual arts and creative writing with college preparatory academics. Ninety-seven percent of academy graduates attend a school of higher education – most often the school of their first choice. Interlochen has had more Presidential Scholars in the Arts than any other high school in the country.

INTERLOCHEN ARTS CAMP celebrates 65 years in 1992. The camp is an eight-week program and enrolls 3500 students from all 50 states and more than 30 countries. It embraces students ages 8 through high school in three divisions. Concentrated and highly competitive programs in music, theater, dance and visual arts are offered. More than 256 courses are available each summer. The camp and the University of Michigan enjoy a 50-year affiliation.

WIAA-FM serves a regional audience of nearly 300,000 listeners at 88.7 FM, Interlochen, and 100.9 FM, East Jordan. The station, a charter member of National Public Radio, is an integral part of public broadcasting in Michigan. It raises more money per capita than any other public radio station in the United States.

Interlochen Center for the Arts is supported in part by the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs.

Interlochen Center for the Arts proudly admits students of any race, sex, creed, national or ethnic origin, handicap, or religion.

The Mozart Bicentennial involves the world's most distinguished companies, conservatories and universities in a historic 19-month celebration of the artistic genius of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. The students of the Interlochen Arts Academy Orchestra and Choir are among the renowned musicians invited to perform at Lincoln Center, the only high school in the United States to be so honored. They join thousands of world-class artists, technicians, sponsors and organizers who make this event possible. Among presenters are the New York Philharmonic, The Metropolitan Opera, New York City Ballet, The Juilliard School, the New York City Opera, and orchestras from Salzburg, Vienna, Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco. To be invited to participate in the Mozart Bicentennial is a proud moment for Interlochen. It reflects the commitment to quality education which is at the center of Interlochen's mission.

Conceived by Neal Zaslaw, musicological advisor to the Bicentennial, the Masses-in-Concert programs are a series of novel musical presentations halfway between concerts and historical reconstructions of concerted Masses as performed in the 1770s. Each concert will present Mozart's liturgical music, including a Mass with related choral music, church sonatas and symphony movements as they might have been heard at a high Mass at Salzburg Cathedral and other central European churches in Mozart's day.

The Mozart Bicentennial at Lincoln Center opened January 27, 1991, and lasts through August 1992, during which the 11 companies resident at Lincoln Center and invited organizations pay tribute to Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart by performing his complete works and presenting related ballets, films, exhibits, lectures, symposia and theater works.

Many thanks for your generosity this past year. In addition to your significant financial support, your generosity continued to be exhibited in the use of your plane for Mr. Perlman.

With you support, and others like you who are committed to Interlochen, we have exceeded last year's fundraising mark. This year we were fortunate to receive over $500,000 in new or increased gifts; and again increased our donor base by over 25 percent.

The "spirit of Interlochen" continues, thanks to you. We extend our grateful appreciation for all that you have done financially, and in moving the New York alumni organization forward.

Dear Mr. Epstein:

It is with great appreciation for your continued generosity to Interlochen that I write to you today and offer membership into Interlochen's most treasured donor club.

Your ongoing support of the Center prompts me to bring to your attention this very special assemblage -- The President's Club of Interlochen.

A bit of background...

Established in 1974, The President's Club consists of Interlochen's key individual supporters -- those who believe in the ideals upon which Interlochen was founded and have chosen to support in many ways the activities of our Center. Interlochen's President's Club is a vital component of our ongoing success.

In addition to making financial commitments, President's Club members assist Interlochen by attending concerts, events and special meetings, identifying prospective students and providing counsel to the president on issues and policies of the institution. They share in many ways the aspirations and accomplishments of Interlochen and its students and faculty. Incidentally, the past three fiscal years have provided the most dramatic increase in President's Club membership since the inception of the Club.

It would be an honor to add the Epstein name to the roster which presently boasts many of the country's leading patrons of the arts.

Your much appreciated past gifts to the Center would qualify you as a member Paid In Full. All that is needed is your signature on the enclosed card and the rest is up to me.

Please feel free to call or write if I can answer any questions. I'll look forward to receiving your signed Statement of Acceptance for Membership. Again, thank you so much for remaining such an important part of the Interlochen family...

Dear Jeff:

Welcome to The President's Club of Interlochen! I am so pleased that you have become members of this special group of individuals who have made major commitments to help Interlochen continue its programs. Enclosed is your President's Club plaque, a small token of our appreciation for your support.

I take this opportunity to bring to your attention our annual President's Club Weekend that is held in the summer. Last year, 169 members and guests attended and enjoyed a variety of information sessions, social activities and, of course, entertainment as part of this special Weekend which culminated with the Concerto Concert of our renowned World Youth Symphony Orchestra.

The next President's Club Weekend is scheduled for August 13-15, 1993. I do hope that you will make plans to be with us. It is a wonderful time to become acquainted with other President's Club members and enjoy Interlochen at its finest.

Again, our deepest thanks for your support. We look forward to sharing more of Interlochen with you through The President's Club!

October 18 is Collage (our 90-minute sampler of many disciplines without a pause, incorporating large ensembles, dance routines and creative writing, all in one presentation). The third annual Parents Weekend will also take place on that date. This year's Collage/Act II Auction theme is On With The Show.

Dear Jeffrey:

I hope this letter finds you enjoying the first days of spring!

It is with a great deal of excitement and anticipation that I write to inform you of my intent to leave the Interlochen Center for the Arts effective July 12, 1996. I have been offered the position of Executive Director of Development for the School of Business at Indiana University and, after much deliberation with [REDACTED], the kids, and the cat, have accepted the offer.

The program at Indiana is first-rate and I look forward to my new responsibilities with a recipe of eagerness, excitement and just a pinch or two of appropriate fear!

My association with Interlochen goes back to 1972 when I first set foot on the grounds as a terribly shy summer camper from Mississippi forced to attend by a painfully persuasive mother. Now, as my family and I prepare to leave, it becomes even more apparent what Interlochen has meant and means to me -- Mom was right all along. High atop the list of gifts Interlochen has given me are the friendships I have made with alumni, parents, friends, trustees and, of course, my co-workers here on campus. Now that I come to think of it, I can honestly blame the amount of gray hair on my head from the same group!

As a friend of mine said not too long ago, "may our paths cross often and with fond remembrances of the time we shared at Interlochen"!

[REDACTED] joins me in sending our heartfelt best wishes to you for health, happiness and peace...

As always,

Dear Jeffrey:

Everyone agrees that Interlochen's founder, Joseph E. Maddy, was a man of action. He had visions that went from idea to implementation because of his drive and because he knew how to engage others in his plans. The Wexner Foundation is counted among the believers in the ideals that were set by him--to create a "dream city for youth" where artistic expression is taught and nurtured.

This year, we are celebrating the 70th anniversary of Interlochen Arts Camp and the 35th anniversary of Interlochen Arts Academy. As a tribute to the man who founded the "World Center for Arts Education" and in conjunction with our anniversary, we have created a new donor recognition program appropriately named, the Joseph E. Maddy Society.

This highest donor recognition honor is being bestowed on our friends who have made significant gifts to Interlochen of $50,000 and above. The Wexner Foundation's gifts to Interlochen entitle you to be one of the members of the elite Joseph E. Maddy Society.

We hope you will join us on campus as we celebrate our inaugural Joseph E. Maddy Society event on Sunday, August 17, 1997. On this day, we will be unveiling our newly constructed donor wall on campus. We will begin with dinner at Norpines, hosted by me and my wife Joyce, and then attend the stirring performance of Les Preludes, the traditional season finale of the camp session. These are small tokens of our appreciation for what your support for Interlochen means to us.

Sincerely,

By ADAM BRYANT

In the aerospace business, Boeing seems invincible. By placing big bets on new aircraft and paying close attention to research and engineering, it has grown to dominate its industry by a wide margin. When it has tried to diversify outside the notoriously volatile aircraft industry, though, it has a remarkable history of missing the mark.

Through the years, the Boeing Company has made everything from windmills and hydrofoils to rail cars and computer-controlled buses. In its early days, it even tried making furniture. And while most of these ventures were considered technical successes, they all drained cash until the company shut them down.

Now, undeterred, Boeing is breaking out into new areas again. But there is a difference this time: The company finally appears to have learned from its mistakes. In recent months, the Seattle-based Boeing has announced a number of new ventures — such as selling corporate jets and training pilots — that suggest that it has decided to stay close to its aerospace roots.

"Boeing has learned that if it reaches too far afield, it gets burned," said Wolfgang H. Demisch, an aerospace analyst at BT Securities. "So it is trying to somehow extend its presence by building on its existing franchises."

More is at stake than simply erasing Boeing's dubious record in sideline businesses. For one, the new ventures, if successful, can help smooth out the cyclical swings that have long buffeted Boeing's stock price and the size of its work force.

That search for balance was a big reason Boeing announced last December its intention to acquire the McDonnell Douglas Corporation, whose strength in military contracting should complement Boeing's commercial aircraft business. But that deal, Lawrence W. ... president of Boeing Enterprises, on the floor of the company's factory in Renton, Wash., where a new business jet will be made.

Boeing officials declined to predict how much revenue Boeing Enterprises may generate in coming years. But Nicholas Heymann, an aerospace analyst at Prudential Securities, has estimated that Boeing Enterprises could take in $5 billion by 2000, with operating profit margins of about 20 to 25 percent. He also predicted that the division would grow 8 to 10 percent a year.

Boeing officials said two overarching criteria would guide Boeing Enterprises' expansion into new areas: It must know at least something about the products and their customers.

As sensible as that strategy sounds, Boeing is nevertheless adding to the challenges it faces in coming years, particularly in trying to absorb McDonnell Douglas into its corporate culture.

"The jury is still out on whether they are overreaching themselves in other business," Mr. Demisch said. "What they are attempting is pretty ambitious."

For all the challenges of the corporate strategy, though, one thing is clear: Boeing will leave behind fewer curiosities for historians. When the aircraft industry slumped in 1918 after the end of World War I, for example, Boeing tried to augment its modest plane-building business by making flat-bottomed boats called sea sleds and furniture like dressers and phonograph cases.

Boeing had hoped to sell the boats to the Navy, but they eventually wound up in the hands of private owners who bought them at a discount. And Boeing's own employees bought much of the furniture at clearance prices. According to "Legend and Legacy," a history of Boeing by Robert J. Serling, the company sent out a notice to employees that included this sales pitch: "P.S. If you have delayed getting married on account of the high price of furniture, now is the time to get a good start."

The next big push to diversify came after World War II, when Boeing's production lines for bombers were almost shut down. It considered getting into the car and household appliance businesses, but Boeing executives determined that that would be too much of a stretch even for them. The company tried the turbine engine business instead.

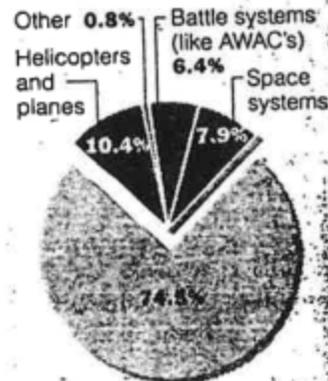

In the late 1960's, when business was so slow that Boeing at one point went 18 months without getting a single aircraft order, the company branched into a wide variety of businesses. It built passenger and military hydrofoils, wind-powered turbines, public transit equipment, even police radio scramblers. At one point, Boeing was planting and selling potatoes as part of an irrigation

A Commercial Success

Most of Boeing's revenues come from the sale of commercial airplanes, although the pending acquisition of McDonnell Douglas will make the military and aerospace sector a bigger contributor to its bottom line.

Boeing officials said at the time that their goal was to have a third of the company's revenue coming from nontraditional areas by 1980. "We are going to respond to social needs," a Boeing official told Time magazine in 1971. "If we do not, we will be a limited company."

But as demand picked up for planes, particularly with airline deregulation in 1978, Boeing eventually left all these businesses to focus on the products and customers it knew best. In the process, it became a far narrower company, although a far more prosperous one than if it had continued pouring money into extraneous ventures.

Since then, Boeing has gone through a fundamental change, and has come to see itself as an aerospace company, rather than a company with engineering prowess that can be applied to just about anything.

One former Boeing executive who was involved in many past diversification efforts, John H. Goldie, summed up Boeing's mistakes in "Legend and Legacy," although his words serve as a warning to all companies:

"Boeing never had a strategy to diversify in any intelligent way," Mr. Goldie said. "It gets into these things on an ad hoc basis. Somebody promotes an idea and if he's reasonably capable, it'll work. But if the guy's an idiot and doesn't do any research, it'll be a disaster."

scheduled to be completed early next month, has encountered sharp criticism from the European Union, which has threatened to oppose the merger tomorrow in its final ruling unless Boeing accepts severe restrictions on its operations. The Clinton Administration has signaled that it may retaliate if the European Union decides to impose stiff fines on Boeing.

For all its problems with European regulators, Boeing has another kind of problem — the kind any company would love to have. It expects to generate such hefty profits in coming years that it will be forced to find new uses for all the cash. Yesterday, it reported second-quarter net income of $334 million on revenues of $9.29 billion. The results were short of analysts' expectations, and the stock fell $1.6875, closing at $54.375. But that is probably just a blip on the radar. And this time, Boeing is not waiting to start searching for new businesses only after aircraft orders have slumped and it is struggling to keep its workers busy.

"That is a significant difference between the past and where we are today," said Lawrence W. Clarkson, president of Boeing Enterprises, a division created in January to seek out and manage new ventures.

Boeing, for example, is now in the corporate jet business. The idea grew out of conversations between Philip M. Condit, Boeing's chairman, and John F. Welch, chairman of the General Electric Company, a big supplier of engines to Boeing as well as a big buyer of jets for its aircraft leasing division.

According to Boeing executives, Mr. Welch had already committed to buying two 737's for corporate use, but mentioned to Mr. Condit that they still lacked the range of traditional, smaller corporate jets.

Boeing then set 100 engineers to work designing a 737 with the most modern wings and bigger fuel tanks to get its range above 6,000 miles. Offered this new capability, Mr. Welch immediately switched his order to the new version and, convinced such a plane would appeal to other executives, joined Boeing as a partner to start Boeing Business Jets. The planes, at about $38 million to $40 million each, are approximately the same price as the smaller, top-of-the-line corporate jets made by Gulfstream and Bombardier.

At a news conference last year to announce the venture, Boeing officials had planned to say they expected to sell six to eight business jets a year, but Mr. Welch persuaded them to push the estimate to 10 a year. None of them were right. In the first year, Boeing has taken orders for 20 corporate jets, including one from the golfer Greg Norman, whom Boeing has signed up as a pitchman to help sell the planes.

Perhaps the strongest validation of the new market for large corporate jets came from Boeing's biggest rival, Airbus Industrie, which announced last month that it, too, would start selling a modified version of its A319 as a corporate jet.

In January, Boeing Business Jets was folded into the new Boeing Enterprises division, which has moved quickly into other ventures. In March, it joined forces with Flight Safety International, a company acquired last year by the investor Warren E. Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway Inc., to train commercial-jet pilots.

Diversifying by sticking with what's familiar.

And in May, Boeing Enterprises agreed to a joint venture with Aero Vodochody, a Czech manufacturer of military jet fighters.

Mr. Clarkson said Boeing Enterprises was considering a number of other businesses. One is heavy maintenance of aircraft, work that many airlines prefer to farm out to subcontractors. If it proceeds with that idea, Boeing may find itself competing against some of its airline customers. Lufthansa, for example, handles heavy maintenance for more than 100 airlines. Lufthansa said it did not see Boeing conflicting with its interests unless Boeing went after some of its maintenance clients.

Other possibilities, Boeing Enterprises executives say, include managing the installation of aircraft interiors, an increasingly complex task because of the growing sophistica-

Larry Clarkson was named to the new position of president of Boeing Enterprises in February 1997. In this capacity, he is responsible for establishing and directing new commercial airplane-related business acquisitions, joint ventures or other relationships that are outside of the traditional Boeing business scope. Boeing Enterprises includes Boeing Business Jets, a joint venture established in 1996 between Boeing and General Electric to market a corporate version of the 737. Clarkson also serves as an elected senior vice president of The Boeing Company.

Prior to this assignment, Clarkson served as senior vice president of Planning and International Development for The Boeing Company, with responsibility for the company's overall global growth strategies. He served in this position from January 1992 until assuming his current position, first as vice president and, from April 1994 on, as senior vice president.

Clarkson joined Boeing in late 1987 as a senior vice president of Boeing Commercial Airplane Group. He came to Boeing after a 20-year career with Pratt & Whitney, where he served as president of the Commercial Products Division. While with P&W, he rose from staff lawyer to become deputy director of the F100/F-15 engine program and then vice president/program manager of the F100/F-16 engine program. He then held vice presidential positions in International, Marketing and Contracts before becoming president of the Commercial Products Division in June 1982.

Before joining P&W, Clarkson served three years with the U.S. Air Force, attaining the rank of captain, and then worked for a brief time at a Florida law firm.

Active in many international organizations, Clarkson serves as vice chairman of the National Bureau of Asian Research, chairman of the U.S. Pacific Economic Cooperation Council and chairman of the National Center for APEC, and director of the U.S.-China Business Council, the National Association of Manufacturers and the Atlantic Council. He also serves on the U.S.-Japan Joint High Level Advisory Panel and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the Pacific Council on International Policy and the National Research Council - Committee on Japan. He is past president of both the Washington State China Relations Council and the Japan-America Society of Washington, and is a past vice president of the Wings Club.

Clarkson holds a bachelor's degree from DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind., and a juris doctorate degree from the University of Florida. Clarkson is a member of the Florida Bar and American Bar Associations. He is a trustee of DePauw University and an overseer of the Amos Tuck School of Dartmouth College.

Clarkson's interests away from work include boating and opera. He is a member of the New York Yacht Club and the Seattle Yacht Club. Clarkson also serves as chairman of the Seattle Opera and the Interlochen Center for the Arts. He is a member of the Order of St. John and St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Medina, Wash.

Re: Floor Plans for the Lodge at Interlochen

Dear Tim:

I looked at the plans and they look very nice. My only comments are as follows:

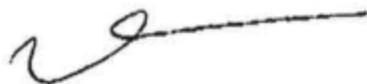

I believe the porch on the waterside should go all the way from one side of the house to the other; accessible by sliding doors from both bedrooms at either side of the house (so you can walk from the bedroom directly out to an outdoor porch).

I also believe the hall on the right bedroom wall should be switched around so you can go from the bedroom to the bathroom without walking past the doorway that leads to the outside (maybe have the hall on the "flip-side"). As drawn, the bathroom can only be accessed from the bedrooms on the right going through the hallway which has the door open to the outside.

Instead of the covered porch on the front of the house (being as large as it is); I'd rather see the same space used for two balconies outside the bedrooms on the lower side (or at least the balcony off the bedroom on the right).

If these plans can be made quickly, I'm ready to fund.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Epstein

I have instructed Town and Country Log Homes to send you the blueprints for the proposed scholarship lodges we anticipate building on campus. Karen Sargent, a noted architect and Interlochen Alumni from New Jersey, is in the process of modifying the plans to incorporate wheel chair and handicap accessibility. She will forward the plans to me upon completion.

The basic plan for one-half of the lodge is priced in the neighborhood of $125,000 to $150,000, depending on the options selected. Karen is also working on the cost for modifying the structure. I will send them on to you upon my return from Colorado in mid-September.

I have spoken with Dean Boal and our Buildings and Grounds Director. We believe the area next to Frohlich lodge is the optimal spot for placement due to its location on the water and accessibility for handicapped vehicles in the winter.

If you are interested in proceeding with the concept, I will be happy to send a formal proposal upon my return.

All is well here, but a bit muggy.

Best wishes,

Enclosed are two attachments. Attachment A is the current configuration and Attachment B is a proposed configuration for placement of the guest bathroom.

There was some discussion previously with respect to the guests walking in front of an exterior door to get to the bathroom. Obviously Attachment B has the same problem. The upside, however, is that you can pass from the outside door into the greatroom without entering a guest bedroom. This is particularly important when guests have mud or sand on shoes or boots.

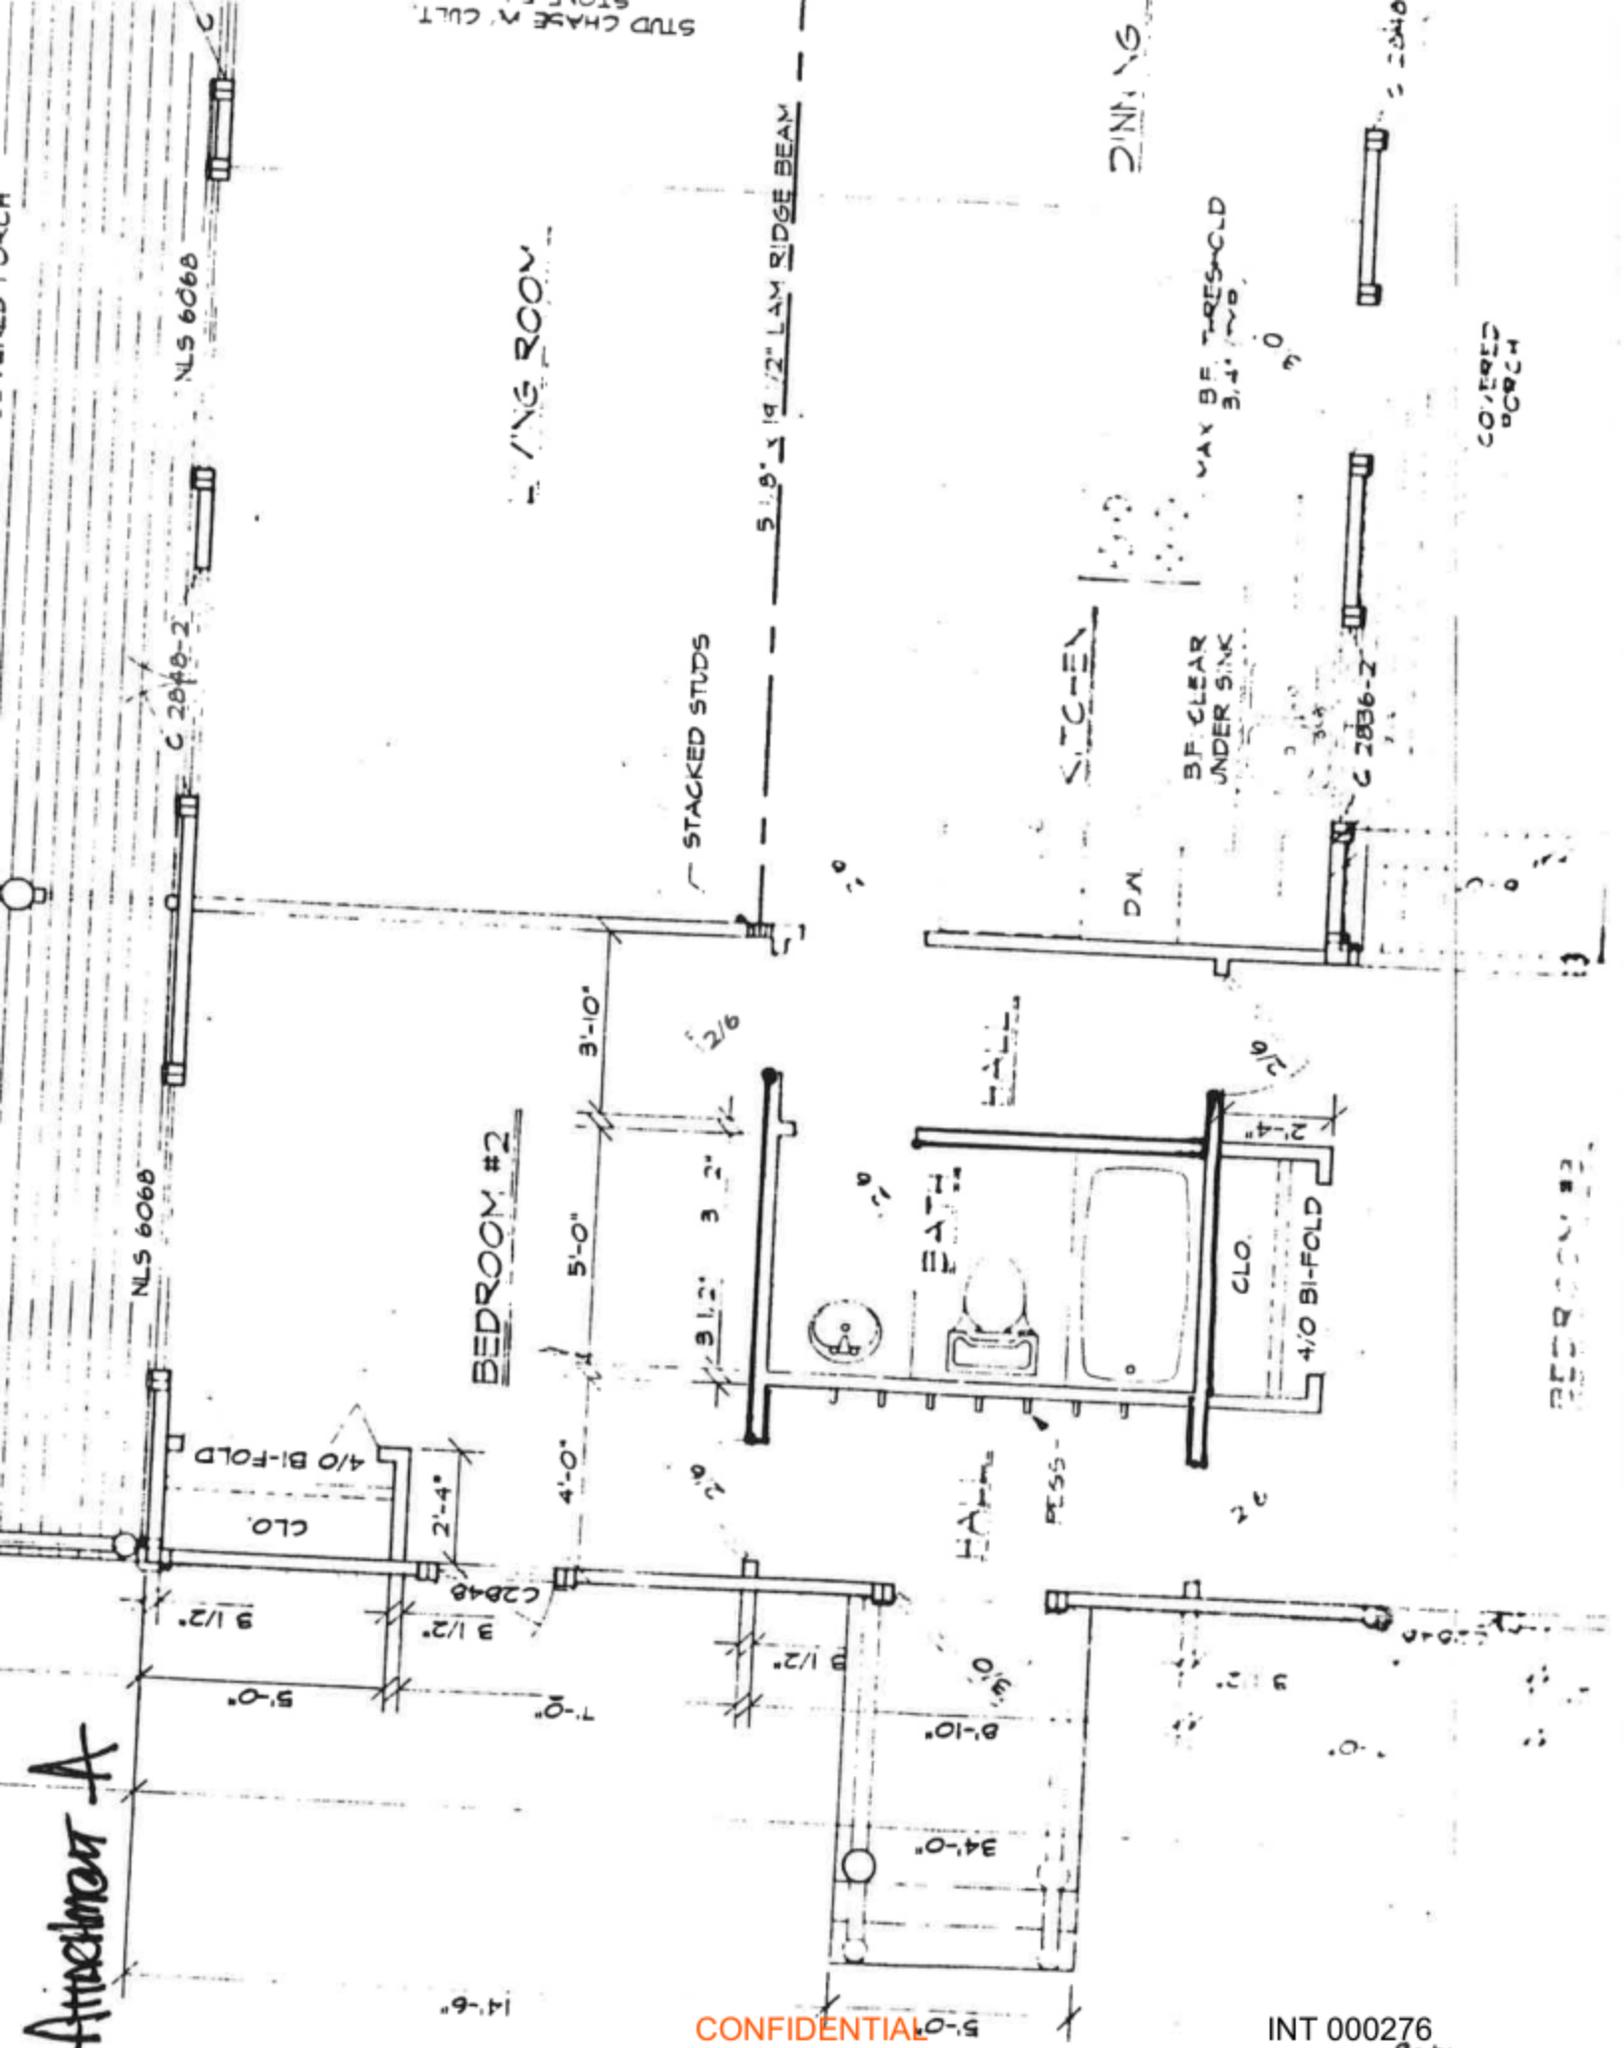

I would encourage your consideration in changing the current configuration to Attachment B, if you have no serious objections.

While I was fortunate to raise the dollars to build the lodge, I don't believe there is an obligation to pay for his use. I believe the income that is generated counts towards the general lodge income. I would suggest that it is part of the cost of doing business and a small way of recognizing the tremendous benefit it will have on your bottom line.

JEFFREY EPSTEIN SCHOLARSHIP LODGE

A new scholarship lodge, now under construction, is being donated through the generosity of a New York Investment Counselor and former camper, Jeffery Epstein. This 1,500 square foot, three-bedroom, cedar log cabin is located on the northwest side of campus on Green Lake. The lodge is designed to be barrier free and features special amenities, including a stone fireplace and a Silcraft whirlpool tub for wheelchair restricted guests.

Income from the rental of this lodge is estimated at approximately $15,000 annually and will be used to fund scholarships. An investment such as this provides benefits to both Interlochen and the donor:

- A. Interlochen has the benefit of a very special on-campus facility for parents, guests and visiting artists. Furthermore the annual income generated from the rental will support several partial scholarships to both Camp and Academy.
- B. The donor receives benefit in the knowledge that this initial contribution will continue to provide scholarship monies this year and for decades, and that countless talented and financially deserving students will be able to share in the "Interlochen experience" well into the next century. Additionally the donor has, at their option, complimentary use of the lodge for 14 days, without a negative tax implications with respect to the deducibility of the entire gift.

If you would like information on how your gift to Interlochen can be of mutual benefit, please contact Timothy Ambrose in the Advancement Office [REDACTED].

Dear Mr. Epstein:

It is my pleasure to ask your help in completing my assignment of thanking you for your generosity toward Interlochen. We are about to place attractive plaques in various campus locations that have received funding for new buildings, renovations and other improvements.

I need to ask you to proof the following paragraph for corrections or changes. Please feel free to change text, format, centering, capitalization, add your affiliations to Interlochen, etc. The size of the plaque will be approximately 5" x 5", therefore brevity is preferred. All plaques will be ordered in April, and placed in their appropriate locations between May and June. Therefore I ask that you contact me with changes by April 5th.

The suggested wording for your plaque is:

This lodge was provided

You may make changes by phone, letter or fax. If I do not hear from you, I will assume the text and format are suitable. I have enclosed my business card for your use. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

Here's the copy of our fall Interlochen Arts Academy performance schedule I promised to send along to you. As you can see, there is a diversity of programs and each one is quite fine. You may want to consider being with us on a weekend when the orchestra is playing a concert. In many respects, the orchestra represents the overall high level of achievement characteristic of the Academy, and I know you would find their performance quite impressive.

If you have a chance to come to Interlochen early in the fall, we may be able to situate you in one of the cabins I mentioned before. However, once the weather turns colder later on, you would probably find one of the rooms in the hotel on campus more comfortable.

We'll be delighted to have you visit us, Jeff. Please let me know when you can.

Dear Jeff:

Thanks for the opportunity to meet and talk with you this past Saturday. I was glad to learn of your rekindled enthusiasm for Interlochen. This is a special place, for sure -- in many ways that's because of the help of alumni and friends such as yourself.

It is very generous of you to consider a gift of $50,000 to Interlochen's permanent endowment. Through it, we will be able to establish five permanent, named scholarships at the National Music Camp. And, as you would be planning to make the gift before the end of November, it would be matched one-for-one by the Dow Foundation of Midland, Michigan, and also apply toward a one-for-three $200,000 Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Arts which is now pending.

Through your gift to build Interlochen's endowment, you will be qualified to become a member of the Presidents Club of Interlochen. You will find enclosed a brochure which outlines its purposes as well as a membership form filled out in your name. You may return it to us, signifying your decision to join.

In addition to your interest in our scholarship program, I want to thank you for offering to suggest Interlochen as a possible charitable interest to your clients and to lend your help in gaining support for Interlochen in the New York area. Regarding the latter, please feel free to contact Mr. Gerald Fischer, Senior Vice President for Corporate Development at Pepsico, Purchase, New York ([REDACTED]). He and several other Interlochen trustees have been testing the waters for a New York-based development effort. I know he'll appreciate your ideas and suggestions.

I hope you will have an opportunity to visit us this fall once the Academy year is under way. You will be impressed by the calibre of the program at the Academy and by the outstanding students it attracts. Hopefully, you'll be able to be on hand for one of their weekend performances. I'll forward an Academy schedule as soon as it is printed in a few weeks.

Thanks again for coming back to Interlochen, Jeff. I hope to hear from you soon.

Dear Jeff:

It was a pleasure having an opportunity to meet and talk with you this past Saturday. I was glad to learn of your rekindled enthusiasm for Interlochen. This is a special place, for sure, in many ways ^{due} because of the help of alumni and friends such as yourself.

It is very generous of you to consider a gift of $50,000 to Interlochen's permanent endowment. Through it, we will be able to establish five permanent, named scholarships to the National Music Camp. And, as you would be planning to make the gift before the end of November, it would be matched one-for-one by the Dow Foundation of Midland, Michigan, and also apply toward a one-for-three $200,000 Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Arts which is now pending.

Through your gift to the endowment, you will be qualified to become a member of the Presidents Club of Interlochen. You will find enclosed a brocure which outlines its purposes as well as a membership form filled out in your name. ^{with} You may return ^{it} to us, sigifying your decision to join.

In addition to your interest in our scholarship program, I want to thank you for offering to suggest Interlochen as a possible charitable interest to your clients and to help ^{gain your} support for Interlochen in the New York area. Regarding the latter, please feel free to contact Mr. Gerald Fischer, Senior Vice-President for Corporate Development at Pepsico, Purchase, New York ([REDACTED]). He and several other Interlochen trustees have been testing the waters for a New York-based development effort. I know he'll appreciate your ideas and suggestions.

I hope you will have an opportunity to visit us this fall once the Academy year is under way. You will be impressed by the calibre of the program at the Academy and by the outstanding students it attracts. Hopefully, you'll be able to be on hand for one of their weekend performances. I'll forward an Academy schecule as soon as its printed in a few weeks.

Thanks again for coming back to Interlochen, Jeff. I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Dear Paula:

As a follow-up to my November 11 FAX, we are suggesting a pre-concert party at the Radison Empire Hotel. I have enclosed a proposed invitation for your review. We anticipate approximately 50 VIP attendees.

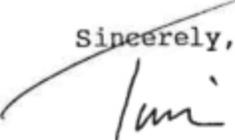

The anticipated cost breakout is as follows:

Hot & cold hors d'oeuvres	$ 25/person
Wine, beer and soda	$ 16/person
Dessert tray	$ 10/person
	$ 51/person
50 x $51	$2,550
Gratuity 20%	$ 510
Tax 8.25%	$ 210
Anticipated total expense	$3,270

If this is acceptable with Jeffrey, please indicate and FAX back. I will have the hotel bill us and Jeffrey can write a check to Interlochen if that is his wish.

Thanks for your help. Please advise as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Timothy Ambrose

Dear Jeffrey:

I regret that Rich and I were unable to make connections on our last visit to New York. Your administrative assistant did call on Friday and, unfortunately, I did not take my voice mail until Monday. Sometimes our success or failure is tied to timing. Apparently it wasn't the right timing. In any event, I want to express our appreciation for your past generosity and ask your consideration in supporting the students once again.

Just before the Christmas holidays we were invited to perform on Sunday of the opening weekend of the Olympics. We are the only youth group, outside of the Atlanta Junior Symphony and Australia Junior Symphony (2000 Olympics), to participate. Clearly our profile is very high, as we will be performing the only commissioned piece for the Olympics in conjunction with Andrew Young, Co-Chair of the Atlanta Olympics.

We will be spending three days in Atlanta with the World Youth Orchestra in conjunction with this performance at Symphony Hall. It's a wonderful opportunity for us to be invited and to perform at the 100th anniversary of the modern games. The cost is just over $250,000 to transport, house, feed, and entertain 136 members of WYSO, along with appropriate chaperons and technical support staff. Additionally, we plan on purchasing used tuxedos for the performance in Atlanta at a cost of $20,000. We believe it is important for the students to represent Interlochen as the World Center for Arts Education and tuxedos are the choice of the students in electing their performance wear.

Last year you generously provided a gift of $25,000 which we used for annual scholarships. It is difficult to replace annual contributions with Olympic money, as we need to maintain our level of scholarship support so that these most financially deserving students have an opportunity to attend the camp or academy. With this in mind, I would respectfully request consideration of a gift of $40,000, ($20,000 to the annual campaign and $20,000 for the Olympics as a one-time gift).

Any help you can provide us in submitting a request to the Wexner Foundation would be greatly appreciated. This year, with the added cost of the Olympics, we will be raising over $2,350,000. If you have any leverage with your clients and can comfortably suggest their participation, we certainly could submit a proposal for their consideration.

If you would enjoy a more formal proposal, please let me know. I would be happy to supply you with any documentation or projected expenses on the Olympic project.

On another matter, I have gotten to know [REDACTED]. In fact, [REDACTED] bought a dinner for her and several friends that my wife and I had contributed as a part of the parent's auction. She's quite a talented young lady and definitely in her element, artistically and academically, here at Interlochen. Thanks for encouraging her to consider us.

Thank you for considering this request. Rich and I look to be in New York in April or May. Perhaps you would be available to meet Rich at that time.

Sincerely,

Dear Jeffrey,

A few months ago, [REDACTED], you, and I met to discuss your consideration of a multi-year capital campaign pledge that would be in addition to your present, generous annual support. You suggested that a proposal in the range of $1.5-2 million, preferably payable over 5 years, would receive your serious consideration.

You are probably wondering why it has taken so long to produce this formal request. I have 2 simple, selfish reasons. First, I wanted to have your gift put the campaign over our announced goal of $45 million, and second, what I have outlined below has required considerable research and discussion with faculty, staff, some Board members, and the artistic community at large.

I would like you to consider a $2 million gift to endow the first Interlochen or Epstein Young Artists Scholarship Award. Once these funds are received, Interlochen will, according to its investment policy, have available, on an annual basis, the 5% average of the 3 previous years' earnings to spend. This should approximate $100,000 per year.

I would propose that the funds generated be used as follows: Interlochen would annually, in January, conduct a nationwide competition for the best matriculating high school sophomore artist. The winner of this competition would receive a 2-year scholarship (based on satisfactory annual achievement artistically, academically, and socially) to attend Interlochen Arts Academy (present value $50,000). A portion of the annual earnings (up to $5,000) could be reserved to cover the student's travel to and from campus twice per year or would provide an annual allowance for artistic enrichment, such as attending master classes, workshops, or private lessons with noted artists. Upon graduation from Interlochen, the recipient would also receive a $10,000 cash prize, which must be applied toward college or a conservatory within 1 year. We might also try to arrange, based on the artistic discipline, a 1-year recording contract, exhibit in a gallery, an agent, publishing contract, etc.

By the end of the second year, we will have a junior and senior in place; so the total annual cost will be about $65,000 per year. The balance of the annual expendable percentage earned will be used to supplement our present marketing efforts.

I have shared this concept with a few corporate and foundation executives and have told them you are first in line to consider the actual proposal. Once I have your response (and hopefully support), I will work to secure another 9 such commitments; so we eventually can offer them annually in many artistic areas. This would grow our scholarship endowment by $20 million and through our increased marketing resource provide considerable national visibility for each donor.

There is nothing like this being done at the high school level in this country. I believe this proposal answers the question you asked me during our first meeting in your study over 2 years ago. Thank you for your patience and consideration.

Sincerely,

Richard F. Odell

Dear Jeffrey:

Over the past 9 years as a member of the Board of Trustees at Interlochen Center for the Arts, I have had the pleasure of quietly watching your philanthropy do good work at both the camp and academy.

It seems that you have touched many different areas of campus life via your generosity. You have improved the housing facilities at Interlochen with your funding of the Epstein Lodge. Your philanthropy has certainly been directly helpful to a number of camp and academy students through our scholarship and financial aid programs. And, I'll never forget the spectacular events you made possible for a number of New York City alumni gatherings.

I would like you to know that your generosity has not gone unnoticed by those of us who serve Interlochen through the Board of Trustees. Please accept my personal thanks for your significant history of philanthropy.

The end of Interlochen's fiscal year is closing in very quickly. The year has been a challenging one in the area of annual fund raising to say the least. It appears that this year's very aggressive goal of $3.4 million could be missed by as much as $400,000. For that reason, the development office, members of the Board of Trustees and President Downing are contacting every alum, parent, friend and past supporter to request their participation in the annual fund this year.

Jeffrey, you have given as much as $50,000 in one year to student aid. I am not asking you to equal that very significant gift, but I would like to ask you to consider making a gift of $25,000 to our annual effort by May 31, 2002.

Vice Chairman

Interlochen is a very special cause that stands outside the generous streams of corporate and individual giving so many institutions enjoy in New York. We can only survive through the steady patronage of special friends such as yourself.

Dear Jeffrey:

It was terrific to have you join us for the 75th Anniversary event at Avery Fisher Hall. A proud moment for everyone associated with Interlochen Center for the Arts.

A few weeks after our return to Michigan, we learned that the Academy Jazz Ensemble was selected to participate in the Essentially Ellington competition hosted by the Jazz at Lincoln Center (J@LC) Program. We were thrilled to be one of the 15 finalists out of an applicant pool of 300 entries!

In the two-part competition a panel of judges (including composer, conductor, and Ellington authority David Berger; bassist and composer Rufus Reid; saxophonist, bandleader, and educator Loren Schoenberg, and J@LC Artistic Director Wynton Marsalis) will judge each band's performance of three Ellington works. At the 7:30pm concert on May 19, the top three bands will perform alone and with Mr. Marsalis as soloist, followed by the LCJO performing an all-Ellington set.

Due to the nature and timing of the selection process for this prestigious competition, Interlochen was unable to plan ahead and include participation costs into our operational budget. Therefore, we have decided to approach a few select individuals to ask for assistance in underwriting $17,000 needed to cover all of the expenses, which include airfare, lodging and per diem for 17 students and 6 adults. Jeffrey, would you consider supporting this endeavor?

The competition is slated for May 17-20th in New York City at The Juilliard School. We are scheduled to arrive in New York City on Saturday evening and depart on Tuesday morning. It's an exciting opportunity and a wonderful educational achievement for our jazz program which we couldn't pass up! It points once again to the high caliber of Interlochen students and faculty of which we are so proud.

Thank you in advance for giving this your serious consideration. If you should have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Beth Stoner
