From [REDACTED] response below it seems like SDNY still plans on being at the meetings.

I got a subsequent update from HQ. We're up to 25 victims.

Yes, we can certainly discuss the agenda. We roughed out the following FBI EM (Miami/NY): Opening [REDACTED]: Introductions (FBI/SDNY); status (reiterating the AG's position); safety concerns; victim identification (we need everyone to come forward)

SDNY: Prosecutions 101 (How do cases move from the investigation into and through the prosecution phase?)

PAS: Media engagement

VSD: Victim's rights; FBI objectives (provide support in all appropriate forms to all victims); explain resources (state/federal) Q&A

We're thinking this is about an hour depending on Q&A. As I told VSD, our goal is to have all their resource specific questions and administrative requirement complete when they walk out the door. Additionally, we're providing them the opportunity to be interviewed the same day or the next day if it's too much to handle in one day.

FYI - I plan to be at the NY meeting but I won't be at the Miami meeting as I've got a meeting with [REDACTED] and a couple others from your office to discuss Child Adolescent Forensic Interviewers.

Talk to you soon.

Thanks, [REDACTED]. Should we set up a time to talk further about the agenda for these meetings?

[REDACTED],
FYSA.....at this point we have 22 victims (10 Miami / 12 NY), 5 support (2/3) and 2 attorneys (0/2) scheduled for the victim meetings. The out of town victims are coming from Tennessee, Ohio, Australia, Louisiana, Washington, Spain and California. Additionally, we've identified 4 new victims. I expect this number will increase a bit as we work to lock down reservations this week.

Let me know if you have any questions.
