Subject: info re: Epstein recruitment attempts after incarceration

Hello,

I attempted to contact [REDACTED] yesterday, but it was a bit too late, as I was unaware of what time the bond hearing started.

I have been in communication with someone since December 2016 who claims to have been an employee of Jeffrey Epstein after he was released from house arrest, who stated that shortly before she terminated her employment, either Epstein or his staff requested that she helped to procure "girls" for him, which she claimed to have refused. I'm unsure who specifically made the request, but I believe the conversations are in an encrypted Signal archive (my logs were all wiped from most of my computers after I tried to add signal to a new phone, but I retrieved the archive, which is intact and I would be willing to allow access for it to be decrypted if need be).

If she has already come forward to you, and her story checks out, that's perfect; if not, please get in touch and I will gladly provide whatever assistance I can; I don't want to break a confidence, but this is a matter bigger than any one person. She has spoken with multiple media outlets before, but has not gone on the record with any, to the best of my knowledge. She said she was unwilling to come forward unless absolutely necessary, because she was protecting someone.

It is possible that this was an elaborate catfishing attempt, though, as two months earlier I identified the significance of the ██████████ case and brought it to the Waterbury PD and NCMEC's attention; unfortunately, knowing of some issues in the allegiances of some in FBINYFO, I took it to ██████████ first, as my primary interest was in letting ██████████ know that there was evidence to support her allegations, but my current understanding is that ██████████ sold that information to ██████████ at AMI that night, prompting the shift from the vague "Spirit Cooking" narrative to the Pizzagate narrative within hours, as an attempt to both intimidate victims and discredit ██████████ when she returns, as being a result of 'mass hysteria.' ██████████ never gave that info to her client before dropping the case, which I believe was setup involving AMI recruiting ██████████ to target her intentionally to discredit future accusations of the involvement of those she accused in sex trafficking.

I'd be happy to confirm or elaborate on any of this if needed; I additionally have some developing information on a > decade-old business relationship Epstein had with Gordon Ackley, yacht & media outlet owner & licensed microwave wireless operator in the USVI, with links to both VIGOP organizations, etc. I'm aware of the info that was handed over at the end of March of this year that indicates Epstein provided false information about his whereabouts during a proffer linked to his previous plea, and the subsequent fallout from that... and, of course, I have many hypotheses that I'm sure you're already working through sussing out, especially those linked to Foleygate, especially to Dennis Hastert and, who lived 3 doors down from me until I was 18... and knowing about his predatory nature, I ran comms strategy for his opponent in the 2006 election, consulting during the ramp-up to and fallout from Foleygate (and know/knew many of his victims personally)... especially the significance of the timing of the SMARTech breach as linked to his 2015 indictment. And the timing of the Bannon-Epstein meet within 24 hours ± 12 after I published the ██████████ abduction report, along with other little things I've done along the way to drop small amounts of info to stimulate contacts between those conspiring to conceal the narrative.

And, of course, if you would like for me to butt out of any additional attempts to contact you, please feel free to request that as well; else, I'll keep doing what I've been doing (although someone with LexisNexis access who claims to be an attorney threatened to doxx me the other day, and others have been making veiled threats against my parents, and it's made me pretty much unemployable until this fully drops).

I've been at this for a few years now, and everything I've done was with the intent of protecting victims first, but otherwise to do whatever it takes to keep serial predators, and those who knowingly enable them, from holding positions of power, especially over their victims.

If there is any way I can be of help, please feel free to contact me.
