I have copied our client [REDACTED] to this email. She would like to attend the FBI briefing in New York on October 23. Please provide her with the details on time and location at your convenience. She is located in Louisiana and will need assistance with travel. She is willing to meet with the agents about her experience while she is in New York, which I will send a separate email about now to coordinate, but I just wanted to let you know in case that meeting impacts her travel.

Thank you so much,
