Thanks for being willing. I know your squad responsibilities come first. We are presently working on getting a lot of evidence prepped for discovery. We are looking for help in regards to reviewing some audio calls and organizing some of the items in preparation. It would be as your schedule permitted. Most of the items we need help with are in house, while there are some items like listening to audio recordings that could be done from any computer. Some of the discovery we are trying to turn around for the end of August. I'm happy to talk about it more in depth over the phone as well. Let me know if this is something you'd still be interested in and what your availability would be. If not, totally understandable as well.

Thanks,
