Hi [REDACTED] I hope My comments didn't seem dismissive in any way. I certainly did not mean for them to. What I meant was that most of my thoughts and actions during the past couple of years have been directed toward helping [REDACTED] in her health journey. I completely understand the importance of anything I might be able to contribute in this case.

Your comments did not seem dismissive at all. The health of [REDACTED] is the most important thing and we totally understand that. I will be in touch in the coming weeks/ months to check in and update you on what's going on. We appreciate your help
