Women Sexually Abused By Epstein Request Acosta Testify At Hearing. The Miami Herald (5/24, Brown, 1.09M) reports two women "molested as teenagers a decade ago, are asking a federal judge" in a recent court filing called for "a hearing for all the women who were sexually abused by Jeffrey Epstein, a multimillionaire financier who received a non-prosecution agreement from" Secretary of Labor Acosta while the latter "was a federal prosecutor in Miami in 2007." The request is among "a litany of possible remedies proffered by the victims, who have been waging a decade-long legal battle to put Epstein in prison for his crimes and to hold prosecutors – mainly Acosta – accountable for violating their rights."
