Hi [REDACTED] – Sorry for the e-mail, but I thought it was too late to call. While leaving for my vacation, I was notified that I am going to start a trial tomorrow (Thursday). I don't know how long it will run, so I probably won't even get to see the grand jury next week. I haven't heard anything from down south, but I don't expect that anything will happen next week.

I hope that your time off is for something fun, rather than work. If I hear anything, I will let you know. I assume that you will have your cell phone while you are away.

Thanks.
