Importance: Normal

I'm more than happy to help, [REDACTED]. It doesn't take much of a reason to get me on a plane to Miami, and this meeting is certainly reason enough. If it's set any day after the 20th I'll be there. As for joining the trial team, I'm even rustier than [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], but if [REDACTED] would stand for it count me in. Thanks very much.

[REDACTED] – I'll leave the target letter issue to [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Re the meeting, [REDACTED] will try to schedule it. There are several vacations going on next week, so [REDACTED] is not the only conflict. If [REDACTED] can come to Miami, that would be great. If not, we can VTC.

[REDACTED] – I appreciate your doing this. The meeting is to focus on constitutional and policy issues only; your being a part of it will, I hope, intercept an eventual appeal to DC. Maybe we can even interest you on joining the trial team (a short return to your old haunts) ☺

Subject: The meeting on Epstein

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] – I just got off the phone with [REDACTED]. He is gone from August 10th through August 20th, and will be back in his office on August 21st. He is willing to participate by telephone if we want to stay firm on our August 17th deadline. If the call is going to wait until after then, he also is willing to travel to Miami to attend the meeting in person, but if we do that, we should probably not have the meeting until August 23rd to give [REDACTED] some time to recover and catch up on his work before he hops on a flight down here.

The agents and I were planning to go to New York for August 20, 21, and 22 to serve target letters on the assistants and to interview some of Epstein's colleagues and former employees whom we know were around the girls. I would like to still do this trip, but I know there was some concern about serving target letters while we are trying to negotiate a plea. Can you give some guidance?

Thank you.
