I will check with [REDACTED] and the computer gurus. I think the computer folks told me that opening emails, even to look at them, would change the data.

Judge Johnson's ruling should put an end to Cassell's insistence that we agree to his undisputed facts as part of the victims' summary judgment motion. He can file the e-mails under seal.

As to searching your earlier e-mails and documents, the letter you are referring to is the preservation of electronically stored information letter which [REDACTED] sent you? Is there a way to retrieve the information OPR has requested without altering the electronic data? Thanks.

Subject: Jane Does

Hi [REDACTED] – Just got this from CM/ECF. According to this, counsel for Jane Does cannot quote from any of the emails in a public court filing and must file any emails under seal.

Also, re your earlier request, am I allowed to search my earlier emails and documents? I don't want to mess up my electronic data in violation of the letter that I signed.

Thank you.
