Hey [REDACTED],

Brad and I have been working on one additional set of discovery requests for the Government. We didn't want you to sign off on a schedule before you had a chance to review those and factor those into whatever schedule you want – i.e., we didn't want to sandbag you with those. We should have those finalized in the next few hours and will send you way. At that point, we're good with the proposed schedule – but we wanted you to have the requests before signing off.

As for settlement, Brad is handling those issues and he's always glad to talk to see if there is any progress. Paul

Hi guys – I never got a response on filing this. Can you advise if it is okay?

Also, if we think that settlement is still a possibility, we should try to move on that sooner rather than later, since we are telling the judge that we are working on it.

Thanks.
