I just read the story. That is really a terrible form of exploitation. Unbelievable. Great work!

I am currently investigating an overdose of a drug center patient who was dropped off unconscious to a hospital in Palm Beach, so this story is particularly interesting.

Hey! Just saw that you settled the Maxwell case. Congratulations! Don't know if you have been reading the Sun-Sentinel but I just finished the first ever human trafficking/health care fraud case (defendant Kenny Chatman).

I'll check. I definitely remember having the conversation with you agreeing that you could redact the private email address. I don't remember off hand seeing them but if you think you sent them then you are probably right.

I'll look.

Hi Brad – In paragraph 29, it states “In discovery in this case, the U.S. Attorney’s Office has not produced any emails sent to or from any home e-mail addresses of its prosecutors.” I produced many such emails and you and I agreed that I could redact my home email address so that it wouldn’t be made public.

Have I lost my mind about this?

Thanks.
