

From: [REDACTED]
</O=USA/OU=FLS/CN=RECIPIENTS/CN=AVILLAFANA>

To: [REDACTED]

Subject: Re: JE

Date: Thu, 20 Aug 2009 14:24:37 +0000

Importance: Normal

---

Nope. Now he is using wackenhut guards. But I would be happy to jam them up!

---

From: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]
Sent: Thu Aug 20 10:13:00 2009
Subject: Re: JE

I thought the bodyguards were off duty police. Aren't they sort of jammed up too ?

---

From: [REDACTED]
To: Sloman, Jeff (USAFLS); [REDACTED]
Sent: Wed Aug 19 19:06:00 2009
Subject: JE

Well, apparently an 11,441 square foot mansion isn't big enough, so Mr. Epstein decided to go for a stroll on the BEACH, right past a Town of Palm Beach police car. He was stopped with his two bodyguards and the encounter was videotaped. Ever the quick thinker, Epstein announced that he was walking to "work," i.e., Jack Goldberger's office, which is almost 8 miles from his home. Oh, and the beach is not on the way to the office.

Probation was notified and there will be a meeting tomorrow.

[REDACTED]
Assistant U.S. Attorney

Southern District of Florida

500 East Broward Boulevard, 7th Floor

Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33394
[REDACTED]