[REDACTED],

Unless otherwise directed I am going to stick with what I said to [REDACTED] originally and that is that I can not advise her one way or another regarding civil litigation. I told her that I am a criminal investigator and do not get involved in civil matters.

When I speak with her later today, I will reiterate that and I will tell her that it is her decision on whether or not to speak with Mr. [REDACTED]. I will ask that she contact you should she have any further questions.

As always, I value your thoughts and I will wait to hear back from you.

I also plan on advising [REDACTED] again, if and only if he should contact me, that he should direct his calls to your Office regarding any future announcements.
