Dear [REDACTED], This is a message I tried to send on the 20th. I got a notification back that it did not go through, so I'm trying this different address.

In your notification letter about JE's work release that you wrote to the victims you mentioned the possibility of their notifying you if they wanted any of their addresses made off limits on his mechanical device that restricts him. First, if he is only going to and from that office address, why does he need to be mechanically otherwise restricted? Second, should one of the victims want to designate an address where she lives or works to be programmed as off limits, is it possible for him to then have access to the name of the victim and the specific location from which he is being restricted?

Wishing you a peaceful and happy holiday! Kathy
