Since she is out there, I am even more certain that she should not be named as a victim. Clearly establishing the link between her, Tony and ██████████ is even more important so that the defense can not paint her as a Heidi Fleiss type character who took advantage of Epstein's appetite. (I know that's a ridiculous thought . . .) I think you are correct about taking Saige out. That seems like the best option.

Hi ██████████ – The new lawsuit includes ██████████ name in the Complaint. Her name has also appeared in the big article that ran in the British newspapers and in a lot of the Palm Beach Post articles because the police wanted the State Attorney's Office to charge her.

I think that I am going to take Saige out of the substantive counts of the indictment. I will leave her in as a Jane Doe on items that ██████████ can testify about, so we don't have to call Saige as a witness. What do you think?
