Lyle, thank you so much for the introduction. Wendy, a pleasure to e meet you. I would be delighted to connect and talk further. Perhaps we can arrange a call or a time to meet? I am based in Manhattan but will be in London for much of August if you find yourself there.

Hello to you both!

As discussed I thought it could be helpful for you both to connect around Wendy's current project with Woman's Entrepreneurship Day <http://womenseday.org/>. Given both your accomplished backgrounds and extensive networks I thought it might be of value for each of you.

Wendy, some information on Ghislaine's background is outlined below.

Ghislaine Maxwell is the president and founder of The TerraMar Project (TMP) (<http://theterramarproject.org/>), a web-based non-profit organized to protect the ocean commons by empowering a global community of ocean citizens. In addition to promoting awareness and responsibility for the high seas, TMP collaborates with stakeholders to make the oceans part of the 2015 United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. TMP publishes an online daily newspaper called "The Daily Catch" which aggregates the best marine and water news from around the world.

Miss Maxwell is also the President of the global consulting firm Ellmax where she has led a number of private equity deals.

Miss Maxwell previously was the Founder and Managing Director of Maxwell's Corporate Gifts. She was also Senior Relationship Manager for Maxwell Communication Corporation. Miss Maxwell has sat on a number of boards, most notably Oxford United Football Club and Seed Magazine.

She holds a B.A. - [REDACTED]. from Oxford University. She is a licensed helicopter pilot, a Deepworker submersible pilot and a certified EMT
