I hand designed a baby sling that wrapped around my infant son, [REDACTED] and stopped him from rolling over onto his stomach in his sleep as he had reflux and would roll over onto his stomach in the middle of the night and wake up and cry.

I did a fashion design course when I was 15 years old in Kadina and was taught how to draw patterns and design clothing and sew them from the patterns.

I used this knowledge and skills to design the baby sling.

I also applied this degree to my fashion design business

Ph :

As a suggestion : Port Pirie Housing Project - Youth Housing - Under 25 years of age

For example :

Abandon housing to be utilized for cost effective renovations suitable for youth housing and targeted at the age range of 25 years of age and under - Low maintenance gardens / yard areas
Minimum bond required - Lower priced bracket, rental payments required - Inspections as per dictated in rental agreements - Group housing encouraged.
Strictly for disadvantaged, unemployed, emergency housing, youth, under 25 years of age.
Example - Rental payments - $150.00 - $200.00 price range, week
Example - Bond required - Minimum, 1 month bond required

Individual Payment Scheme - Individual responsibility of payments - Rent, Bonds, Utilities

Rental agreements - Individually based according to payments of rental payments, bonds required, utility accounts

Individually based payments - Each individual is recorded on the rental agreement as being responsible for their share of the rental payment, bond required and utilities required.

As per individual - Missed payments - Individual is given a warning of eviction and is required to forfeit their share of the bond upon this occurrence and is individually evicted without this eviction effecting the other residence of the property.

Utility payments required as per individually based and is the responsibility of the individual.

Utility accounts are separated into an individual sum of the total - Split payments of the account total and placed into the individuals name as the share of responsibility

Bonds - Bonds are separated into individual payments of the total sum and responsible by the individual

Rental payments - Payments are separated into individual payments of the total sum and responsible by the individual

Example : Rental agreement - Group Housing - Rental payments - Bonds

Bond required - $400.00 - 1 month bond - $200.00 per week

Group Housing - 3 individuals - Bond split 3 ways - Rental payments split 3 ways

Each individual is registered upon the one rental agreement and is individually responsible for their share of the payment, splitting the total sum of the account into three individual payments - Including bonds required and utility accounts applied

Competitor swot analysis

Strengths, weakness, opportunities, threats.

Strengths: Well established; local employees - qualified Trusted service; High standard.

Weaknesses: limited exposure ^{to different clients}, day hours only.

limited clients at one time, due to in home care facilities

~~the~~ bus service ^{not} offered as regular service

Day hours only, or limited children in care at once, inflexible hours, offered.

Opportunities for "Weekend Wanderers"

- : Unique service offered - weekend & evening hours of care.
- : Unique bus service offered as part of care service.
- : Government support for more childcare service facilities offered at this time.
- : minimal personal liabilities allowing for success of ^{Government Grant} ~~investment~~ loan applications to develop centre on desired site.
- : ~~Strong personal support~~: strong personal support from family and friends.

Threats for "Weekend Wanderers"

Lack of experience managing ~~business~~ business of this nature.

Well established and trusted care centres available in area.

Unavailable qualified staff to work these hours - need qual. training strategies. - on site training (courses).

low financial funding for initial start up and development of ~~cent~~ centre facilities.

Overcoming concerns: The site training (Apprenticeships) will be offered to prospective employees which will involve ^{completing and passing} the appropriate courses and degrees to become a full time employed child care worker.

Qualified staff will be located by utilizing the job network centre facilities locally available. Funding and initial start up of the business will be sort from the equity ~~of~~ the investment property solely purchased for the development of the business centre.

Jacqueline will commence full time study to gain appropriate qualifications to manage and own ~~this~~ a business of this nature asap. Good advertisement strategies used to keep customers informed of our business and what it has to offer at all times e.g. local paper, local radio, school noticeboards etc.

the opportunity

This service will offer parents ~~time~~ and peace of mind to get some time out to catch up with each other and friends, ~~attend functions or meetings or parties etc. on an ad-hoc level, offering ~~stress relief~~ at the end of the week for working couples~~ ~~single mums, over-employment~~ or ~~to~~ work overtime or evening/weekend hours if necessary.

ANNOUNCED PUBLICLY BY SA GOVERNMENT AS THEIR OWN POLICY IN 2020

South Australia

20th May 2019

Dear Mayor, Robert Bria,

I am contacting you today to raise a concern regarding the current Tax system in Australia in relation to multiple employment positions held by employee's within foreign countries and Australia as combined employment.

Under the current Tax system these employee's incomes are taxed within the foreign country, then taxed upon their Australian income, then taxed again upon the combined income by the Australian Taxation system.

Would this then not be perceived as " Double Dipping ", and how can a foreign income be perceived as contributing as a total of an Australian income when the income is not earned in Australia and paid by an Australian employer ?

Therefore shouldn't the two totals be viewed separately as two separate incomes to be taxed separately within the countries of employment and not combined as their total Australian income ?

I would then like to raise the issue concerning Superannuation being taxed once it reaches a certain threshold. Under the current tax system the employee's income is taxed before an amount is deposited into their Superannuation fund as a savings plan for retirement, then taxed again once it reaches a certain threshold and before it actually becomes an income. How can this be taxed when it has not yet become an income and is deemed as a savings plan as you would in a bank, which is not taxable, and would be taxed again on an income that has already been taxed viewed or perceived as " Double Dipping " again. If employee's Superannuation is being reduced by taxes and fees while it is being accumulated would it then reduce the time frame of which the retired individual could then live off the accumulated funds, which in turn then places them on a pension, of which other tax payers are then supporting, which defeats the purpose of taxing their Superannuation benefit in the long term.

In regards to Tax debts concerning low income earners. The current Tax system is placing interest and fees upon the original amount of the debt which is then escalating the debt into an unmanageable and unreachable debt in terms of the total owing and monthly payment instalments over an extended period of time.

If partnered or becomes partnered the monthly payment instalments are calculated on the total household income instead of being calculated on the individual's income who is responsible for the incurred debt, which in turn escalates the monthly payments as unaffordable in line with living expenses such as mortgage, utility's, food, petrol, insurance, clothing, medical or education expenses placing pressure upon the relationship and household employment positions. This in turn results in people turning to alternative measures to earn income such as " Under the table " payments for employment of which is not taxed or declared if receiving Centrelink payments as supplementary income, which is resulting in over payments from Centrelink which is affecting other tax payers within Australia in the rise of taxes. Alternatively the individual avoids gaining employment all together because of the unaffordable tax debt and repayments which then remain unpaid resulting in a debt for Australia that contributes to numerous other small tax debts, accumulating into a total of a large debt that remains unpaid and unable to be recovered.

The individual then receives Centrelink payments which in turn places more pressure and expense on all tax payers within Australia who are supporting these people.

I believe that each case should be individually evaluated upon the individual who incurred the debt and if evaluated as a low income earner fees and interest should not be applied and affordable monthly instalments should be offered based on their income and expenses over an extended unlimited period of time. This way the payment is coming off of the principle of the debt, reducing it and recovering the amount and the individual is encouraged to remain in employment or gaining employment, paying taxes, which will also reduce the debt upon their income tax claims over the life of the debt.

I feel that these are very concerning issues and need to be raised, addressed and considered as an unfair system effecting Australia as a whole and needs to be reviewed and reformed.

Yours Sincerely
A concerned Australian citizen
