RENTAL RATES SURGE

Markets showed no sign of a slowdown as absorption totaled 151,050 sq. ft. in the First Quarter of 2012, continuing a surge which began early in the First Quarter of 2010.

In the past nine quarters more than 450,000 sq. ft. of office space has been absorbed, it's second best performance in 18 years. This solid run coupled with improving inventory levels and rising asking rates are solid indications that market fundamentals have firmed and should continue to remain favorable for 2012.

The absence of significant development coupled with continued high construction costs should benefit the leasing market going forward. The market continues to demonstrate that even with rising rental rates and record low interest rates, the flexibility of leasing versus ownership remains the preferred avenue for consumers at this time.

This study now analyzes over 1,000 properties encompassing over 17 million sq. ft. and is arguably the most accurate measure of occupancy and rental rates available to the Mid State. We are humbled that so many of you rely on the solid information which has been prepared in this analysis over the past 18 years. We will continue to be the only firm to provide quarterly market information on office and business park properties with unsurpassed accuracy going forward.

DOWNTOWN BUSINESS DISTRICT

After a difficult 2010 and 2011 which produced staggering losses, activity improved sharply in the First Quarter of 2012 as absorption totaled an impressive 36,450 sq. ft. fueled by excellent demand from users in Class B+ and Class B segments. Demand for Downtown properties increased significantly over the past several weeks, a positive sign for a market which has received much bad press in recent months.

Activity from Class A tenants was less apparent in the First Quarter as absorption totaled only 500 sq. ft. Occupancy rates remain at 93%. Demand for these premier properties remains inconsistent and the departure of Buchanan Ingersoll from the M & T Bank Building located at Second and Market Streets later this year should put additional pressure on first class properties throughout the remainder of 2012.

The Class B+ segment showed signs of improvement in the First Quarter of 2012 as occupancy rates rose to 90% and absorption totaled 12,650 sq. ft. Demand for high rise towers fueled much of this activity as tenants flocked to some of the best B+ product in the market. Furthermore, several historic properties remain available for those who can make a substantial commitment to the marketplace. Prices for these properties continue to adjust and activity should increase in the upcoming months.

44 Hersha Drive, Harrisburg

UP TO 20,000 SF AVAILABLE

Class B occupancy rates rose sharply in the First Quarter of 2012 as absorption totaled 23,300 sq. ft. Occupancy rates reached 91%, their highest levels in several quarters, as demand from less premier users finally surfaced. Fewer large suites remain, most under 3,000 sq. ft., and as owners make necessary concessions tenants should continue to respond. The outlook, while uncertain, can continue to stabilize should pent up demand remain at current levels and no significant new vacancies arise.

EAST SHORE BUSINESS DISTRICT

75 S. Houcks Road, Harrisburg

UP TO 10,000 SF AVAILABLE

After a solid Fourth Quarter in 2011 which produced terrific advances totaling nearly 71,000 sq. ft., the East Shore Business District continued its surge as absorption totaled 51,100 sq. ft. Gains were realized across the board from all segments of the marketplace with the Class B segment showing some of the strongest momentum.

Occupancy rates for Class A properties rose to 94% as absorption totaled 11,000 sq. ft. Demand for the former Crump Insurance property helped fuel these advances as over 44,000 sq. ft. has been re-leased since the firms departure last October. Rental rates are firming, concessions fading and occupancy levels rising as demand continues to impress.

Absorption for the Class B+ segment totaled 13,500 sq. ft. in the First Quarter of 2012 pushing occupancy rates to 90% in the process. Only a few properties continue to undermine this segment and activity on these office buildings has been brisk in recent weeks. Demand from new firms is a welcome sign going forward in 2012. Several new firms have opened small to medium sized offices in the mid-state in recent weeks and based on current activity levels this trend should continue.

Solid demand from Class B users pushed absorption to 22,600 sq. ft. in the First Quarter of 2012. Occupancy rates remained at 92% as availability continued to dwindle and large suites became more scarce. Much of the remaining Class B inventory consists of suites from 2,000 sq. ft. and below. Underwhelming properties with poor management will continue to underperform and get passed over as sophisticated landlords make deals.

The demand for Class C properties on the East Shore was more modest in the First Quarter of 2012. Absorption totaled 4,000 sq. ft. and occupancy rates reached 93%. Fewer availabilities remain at these less sophisticated properties as buyers are acquiring buildings, utilizing remaining availabilities and creating value.

WEST SHORE BUSINESS DISTRICT

Premier properties continue to outpace much of the remaining segments on the West Shore Business District as the "Flight to Quality" continues. Absorption totaled a remarkable 63,500 sq. ft. in the First Quarter of 2012.

Occupancy rates for Class A properties rose to 95% in the First Quarter of 2012 and absorption totaled an impressive 23,800 sq. ft. The lack of large availabilities and the continued increase in expansions help push figures higher. Few large suites remain and several deals are in the works to occupy these first class offices. Prices have firmed substantially in recent months and unless a building is troubled, this should be the trend throughout the remainder of 2012.

Demand for Class B+ properties on the West Shore continued to remain vibrant as absorption totaled 24,700 sq. ft. and occupancy rates rose even higher to 94%. Some migration from the Downtown Business District can be attributed to these gains coupled with an improved market in general. With few new availabilities anticipated over the next quarter, the immediate future remains stable. Rental rates are reaching levels not seen in nearly four years as options for users dwindle.

The Class B segment reached their highest levels in years closing the First Quarter of 2012 at a remarkable 95%, up significantly from the previous year. Absorption totaled a healthy 10,400 sq. ft. as users flocked to well maintained properties with solid locations and amenities. If demand persists, construction remains limited and no significant availabilities come on line, the segment can continue to thrive.

The Class C segment managed to absorb 4,600 sq. ft. in the First Quarter of 2012. Occupancy rates climbed to 91%. Excellent values remain for users looking to enter the office market at rates far below higher priced, more modern properties.
