Sounds like your sister is strong already,,,to go through the process of IVF is a lot in and of itself..so understandably, even more devastating when there is a loss..I hope she is able to try again! and yes, maybe she should come to NY...I'm sure she feels very loved by you and your mother ...support is what she needs. Stay positive for her! xo

So there is the decision about whether she will go through it again. I desperately want her to come to NYC to get an opinion on where she stands. The medical in [REDACTED] is so bad. They ran more tests on me here to freeze my eggs than they have on her to go even the step further with ivf in [REDACTED].
