Smiling Diverse Children Around a Heart

Dear Jeffrey

As the end of the year approaches, we thought you'd like to hear first hand how your generous support has made a difference all year long. On Valentine's Day we want to express our heartfelt appreciation to you for being a part of the Second Response team. You are one of the reasons we get up every morning and work hard to realize our shared mission of building resilient communities.

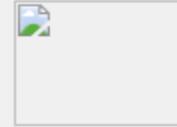

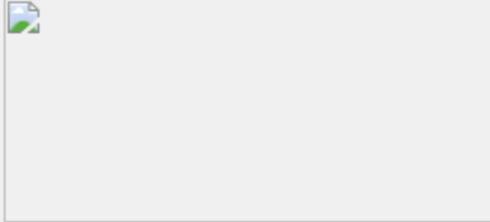

Traumatic events are impacting our communities with increasing frequency. Your continued generosity enables us to reach more first responders, teachers, hospital workers, and caregivers, teaching them strategies to take care of themselves and giving them new tools to help children affected by trauma. Every dollar you give is helping us defeat trauma through play and replace nightmares with restful sleep for thousands of children.

Jeffrey , on this special day we are celebrating the love for your community that you demonstrate in your generous support of Second Response.

Happy Valentine's Day!
