Hi Jeffrey,

I'm sorry about the delay and your frustration in getting your results.

First and foremost, I want to stress this is research and it is fully voluntary. You always have the option to drop out at any time and receive a full refund of sequencing costs. This is no problem. (Your sequencing is already done actually but the money will still be refunded if you withdraw from the study.)

If you choose to withdraw from the study we will of course discard/destroy all your data and samples.

I won't have your analysis completed by tomorrow for sure but I am still going through analysis of your data (as well as other YPO members) and expect to complete analysis and return of data by end of this month. We can certainly schedule go ahead and schedule a time to go over your results by phone perhaps in the 3rd or 4th week of May if you're available.

If you decide to continue in the study, you will receive a copy of your data - which can be reanalyzed in the future. I also plan to (if you're willing) over time and for free continue to fill in any gaps in your sequence data.

I hope this helps in deciding on whether you withdraw or continue in the study. I can set goals but with almost no budget (except for the sequencing) and minimal staff on this project, there have been delays.

If you still have any questions, you can reach me by cellphone anytime today: [REDACTED]. If I'm in a meeting and can't pick up, I will call you back within 1-2hours (or whatever time is convenient for you after 5pm).

Thanks for your patience,
Joe Thakuria
