Got it, that's surprising as I don't see what's alarming about my background at all. But I respect the choice of course!

I'll see what I can do with the option to find personal assistant, thank him for his time and consideration please!

Thank you for all your efforts, your great!

Sara, Jeffrey just told me unfortunately the security check on you did not work out for him...he is sorry, but says if you can find him someone (a traveling assistant) he would pay you like he would pay a head hunter who found him an assistant...
