Ray,

I have a plumbing inspection next week. It takes two weeks for them to come out. If I don't pass this one, it will take another two weeks. Nobody gets paid, the [REDACTED] don't move in and it's because the sink in the powder room is not installed. I know the plumber has taken his time but as you know shit happens. He had a knee operation and yea he was on vacation. If you could measure this weekend and install early next week it could save the day.
