

From: Lesley Groff <[REDACTED]>
To: jena masquelier <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Re: Stuff
Date: Tue, 02 Jul 2013 15:18:07 +0000

Dont use Dial 7...have had not great experience with them...try Carmell Limo, NY City Car and Limo or Tel-Aviv Limo...I'd compare pricing probably...

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

On Jul 2, 2013, at 11:13 AM, jena masquelier wrote:

Hi Les-

Do you have a car service in the city that you recommend? G wants to go in style (not stinking taxis from the airport lol)

On Mon, Jul 1, 2013 at 11:49 AM, Lesley Groff <[REDACTED]> wrote:

ok, we have all that kid stuff for sure...I will add lemons and soda water to my list..I am positive I have vodka in our cabinet...it is probably Absolute or Kettle One...I'll look tonight. Bring a bottle of red Gooch likes...

This is your trip with your kids so no worries on the pool or coming out for the day...you should do up NY... and when it comes to the tour on Friday...we are along for the ride! we will go wherever you want to go.

one thing....-I don't know if your kids know about the shooting that occurred up by us in CT, but we have kept that from Ty...lets keep that out of all conversation....not that you would want to discuss it anyway...tragic truly.

What time are you thinking you want to get back to city next day? I would love if we could swing you by the house we are building ..it is one mile away from our house we live in now...

On Jul 1, 2013, at 12:01 PM, jena masquelier wrote:

I'm so excited! :) Kids like cheese sticks, chicken fingers, hot dogs, macnchz, normal kid fare. Juice boxes, waffles, cupcakes, goldfish, fruit of course, carrots, celery ranch, popsicles always a winner! :) Thank you so much. G coming. Talk about that in person. XOXOXO. He is a red wine and vodka guy. We can grab vino in the city and bring it, but if you have vodka, soda and lemons--that'll be great! Have you tried Ciroq vodka? It's from grape leaves so it's gluten free==no hangover. :) Good stuff.

Kids swim every day here and as much as we'd love the time together at your pool, I think the kids will be enamored with city stuff- Balto statue, CP Carousel, Zoo, etc, horse rides thru park, times square, etc. We're gonna try to squeeze in what we can. Oy Vey, tired just thinking about it. I will confirm so you know shortly.

Waht do you think about Friday in the city on our whirlwind tour??

On Mon, Jul 1, 2013 at 10:22 AM, Lesley Groff <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Your air mattress arrived and is in apt 10B! I have asked the cleaning lady to please put extra sheets, towels and pillows in the apartment. The apartment is being cleaned tomorrow as the guest who is there now leaves today at 3:15. This guest is leaving a black duffel bag full of her stuff in the closet next to door because she is returning on July 19th...it is out of the way...

Taking the train to Darien is going to be WAY better!! It is a 52/53/54 minute train (depending on which one you take)...what are you thinking for 4th? Y'all are more than welcome to come as early as you want. Ike is running a race in the morning and then we usually go to the pool for the day...if your kids want to swim we would love to have them...the pool will close at 4pm as it is located in the park where the July 4th festivities will be which opens at 5pm.

Darien train schedule for July 4th:

http://as0.mta.info/mnr/schedules/sched_results.cfm

I know you want to spend time in NY city also, so no pressure but we would all love to see you sooner rather than later!

I am going to grocery shop on Wed. ...please let me know a few items that will make y'all more comfy (especially what you want to drink...i think it is vodka now!???) Ike is going to grill chicken and I will buy some yummy rolls to make chicken sandwiches...avacado...tomato...I have 8 layer dip and chips...juice boxes...gatorade...water...cupcakes...we can buy ice cream and popsicles...bouncy castles, fireworks...

Is Gooch coming? What was the final decision?

CAN:T WAIT!!!!

xo, Les