Makes sense peanut, I think you can gell Gianna you are getting a quote for much less. I just wonder what else can be cut such as two fire places, one in the fun rum and one in bed room ect.

Ikey, these Nukitchen guys will be less expensive and I think we will get a really nice kitchen with them. I want to go with Gianna so bad, but in light of how expensive everything else will be in our house, I think I need to sign with them...Chris is odd...I like Joe better, but doubt he would do our project...Joe would oversee and add input, but Chris would do the work. I think they will be less by a significant amount... I feel sad though. Perhaps I can go in and see these guys again tomorrow to just 'look' again at their cabinets.

Hi Lesley,

Chris and I enjoyed meeting you and hearing about you new home. It's a great location...and walk to town!

We would very much like to help you with the design plan for cabinetry, countertops and installation. The next step would be for Mike to come out to measure. Mike will bring the Chris's kitchen plan and measure accordingly.

Then we'll accurately revise it with all the important details. NuKitchens will provide you with a detailed set of drawings and elevations for your builder and architect so they can accurately create the space, electrical rough-in, plumbing locations and lighting plan for your new kitchen.

Our cabinetry proposal has the 3 ½" stiles and rails you requested.

Here are the answers to your questions:

1. what is the white counter used in the Nolan's kitchen? Carrerra Marble
2. Could the Shaker Style door have 3.5" stiles and rails at same cost? Yes
3. I know you gave me a quote on a #1 Granite Group. You said the Caesarstone is more expensive or the Wood Top like we discussed...ball park figure, how much more to do these types of counters? I also would like to do the thicker edge on at least the 2 islands, so calculate that in as well please... This depends on the selection. Caesarstone generally might add \$2,000 to \$4,000. The John Boos Walnut tops we looked at are in the same price range as the original quote.

"But your "Kitchen Cabinetry" quote of $28,641.00, this INCLUDES the extra special interior cabinets items, such as the pull out in the corner cabinet, spice rack, any roll outs, double trash bin, drawer divider (excluding the drawer peg system, which I see an extra entry for)...correct?" Yes

Would you like to schedule a follow up meeting later this week...or schedule Mike to come out? If decide to move forward with the measurements and plan, I'll come out the site with Mike.

Regards,

Joseph Najmy
