Roy and Stephanie,

Per request of Larry Visoski, you have been added as an authorized user to the private flight tracking of N909JE. We have created a new username that will allow you to log into FlightAware.com to view any flight activity. Your username is RSHodges and your temporary password is alpha2. Once you log in, you can change your password under your main account settings. Click on your username at the top of the site and you can change your password under Option 1.

We have added the tail number to your account to make flight tracking much easier. You can click on My FlightAware at the top to view the current or most recent flight activity. You can also click on the tail number to view a higher volume of flight history.

You are also able to set up free flight alert notifications under the My Alerts link at the top of the site. This will allow you to customize notifications for flight activity which you can receive via email or mobile device. If you do not already have a mobile device synced to your account, you can do so by logging into the FlightAware mobile app on your device. The app is free to download and once you sign in it will be linked to your main account. From then on you can set up alerts over the computer or mobile device.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Andrew Taylor
