Yes, glass is a bit more because the interiors of the cabinets have to be finished the same as the exterior, but we could think about leaving your's "natural".

Hi Michael! Ok, I thought the name was Rain Cloud in the way back that I liked...thanks...

Yes, I was thinking the Monogram oven and warming drawer as well. I have the Monogram oven now under the Advantium and they look really nice together and have the same handle...I have found the Monogram oven works just great too...no complaints. ...although I was looking at a Wolf oven too...We will see.

When it comes to the Crystal cabinets (or any line of cabinets) does it cost more for glass than wood? I really like what you did with the glass cabinets going around the top and am curious what the price differential is...

:) Les
