

From: Lesley Groff <[REDACTED]>
To: "Michael Jackson" <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Re: Follow up on Meeting
Date: Tue, 05 Feb 2013 15:26:13 +0000

---

ah, yes...ok...considering I don't think I will be in and out of those top cabinets much at all, natural interior would probably be just fine!

On Feb 5, 2013, at 10:19 AM, Michael Jackson wrote:

> I meant "natural" as in finished like the standard interior, i.e. natural > maple plywood. (Looks much better than it sounds)

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Lesley Groff [mailto:[REDACTED]]
> Sent: Tuesday, February 05, 2013 9:54 AM
> To: Michael Jackson
> Subject: Re: Follow up on Meeting

> ok...as i told my husband, I think you start out with all the bells and > whistles and then trim down from there...but we should start with all my > desires. We could also do a quote with and a quote without stuff (ie:
> glass) When you say "natural" does that mean the cabinet is open with no > glass? or does that mean you put the panel on it to match the other > cabinets? (sorry! I don't know the lingo :)

> On Feb 5, 2013, at 9:47 AM, Michael Jackson wrote:

>> Yes, glass is a bit more because the interiors of the cabinets have to >> be finished the same as the exterior, but we could think about leaving >> your's "natural".

>> -----Original Message-----

>> From: Lesley Groff [mailto:[REDACTED]]
>> Sent: Tuesday, February 05, 2013 9:15 AM
>> To: Michael Jackson
>> Subject: Re: Follow up on Meeting

>> Hi Michael! Ok, I thought the name was Rain Cloud in the way back >> that I liked...thanks...

>> Yes, I was thinking the Monogram oven and warming drawer as well. I >> have the Monogram oven now under the Advantium and they look really >> nice together and have the same handle...I have found the Monogram >> oven works just great too...no complaints. ...although I was looking >> at a Wolf oven too...We will see.

>> When it comes to the Crystal cabinets (or any line of cabinets) does >> it cost more for glass than wood? I really like what you did with the >> glass cabinets going around the top and am curious what the price >> differential is...

>> :) Les

>> On Feb 5, 2013, at 8:14 AM, Michael Jackson wrote:

>>> Lesley, >>> Rain Cloud is in the back display, with the 2" build up. Witch Hazel is >> in >>> the white display closer to my desk.

>>>
>>> If you are using the Monogram Advantium, I think you should use >>> Monogram Single oven and Monogram warming drawer, especially if you >>> are going to put >>> 2 or more in the same cabinet.
>>>
>>> M
>>>
>>> -----Original Message-----
>>> From: Lesley Groff [mailto: ]
>>> Sent: Monday, February 04, 2013 10:03 AM
>>> To: Michael Jackson
>>> Cc: Bob Caffrey; Ike Groff
>>> Subject: Follow up on Meeting
>>>
>>> Hello Michael. Hope you had a nice weekend. Wanted you to know I >>> DID go look at appliances on Sunday and received my first lesson...I >>> believe we will do the GE Advantium and an oven below this instead of >>> the >> double ovens.
>>> BUT, I also do still want a warming drawer. They were showing all 3 >>> appliances in the same area with the warming drawer at the bottom...I >>> need to talk to my husband about this...not positive we want the >>> warming drawer that low...but maybe. It did look nice and would >>> probably make sense if they are all the same depth...I plan to >>> educate myself more on line when it comes to what is out there (I >>> cannot believe how many dishwashers are available with teeny little >>> differences and huge jumps in price tags!)
>>>
>>> Can you please let me know the name of the Corian I was ultimately >>> looking at?? Was it: Raincloud?
>>>
>>> Thanks, Lesley
>>>
>>>
>>
>