I think we could figure it out. But I think white wine and beer both go in this thing. Wine will not freeze either. It will be awesome.

I do want your beers to be cold but it is the only thing we could keep in this fridge...soda would explode....

Hi Lesley -

There are several options for "beer frosters". They will go down to 24 degrees. Of course they would be for beer only (no water or sodas).

This is a link to several models from a company called Summit. <http://www.summitappliance.com/catalog/38>

The FS22LR0ST would be $569.00

FS60MSSVHFROST is $929.00

Thanks!

Subject: Question from Lesley (I met you this past Sunday)

Hi Tom...thank you so much for the time you spent with me this past Sunday...all very good info to start my appliance education!

I am wondering if there is a small fridge/wine fridge with a bottom temp of 25?...or is the lowest these fridges will go 35? You showed me the Marvel but it only goes down to 35...as I told you, my husband likes his beers REALLY cold...

My husband has found this:

Let me know if there is something else beside just the above from Frontgate

Thanks,

Lesley Groff
