Oh. My. Lord.

Are you kidding??? You told him awhile back you wanted someone to go in and clean!!!

And it's not like he's there permanently. Now he wants to decorate? I can look into the blind/curtain situation. It's ridiculous he would suggest doing it himself. Geez.

Hey [REDACTED]

How are you..?

So Boris and I are here till Friday then we leave to Madrid for few days. We're gone from the 17th and I come back on the 23rd in the morning. Just wanted to let you know.

Do you think some one will stay at the apt while we are gone..? I have to admit, I have a lot of clothes here that I won't take with me. I can maybe move them them to the entrance closet near the kitchen and just tell that person not to use that closet when I am gone..?

A few other things:

As you saw, I keep the apt pretty clean but still needs major cleaning. It has not been in a while. The bathroom, bathtub glass doors, mirrors, there's dust that compiles and just typical cleaning...

I wanted to wash the beddings and white towels but wasn't sure if she bleaches them or not. They def need changing. If she can instruct me how she does the Bedding stuff and towels I'll do them myself.

I know the windows are very hard to clean because most of the stains are from outside and on the frames.

Does she do windows? If not maybe I can try to find some one and schedule myself.

And once again, I am more than happy to cover the housekeeper fees when she comes while Boris and I are here. Please let me know. Maybe she can come before I arrive back on the 23rd and schedule her again march 2nd..? That weekend Boris is here again and one of our friends will stay with us for 2 nights as he's here from brazil.

I wanted to also ask if I can possibly buy and put up some curtains on top of the shades..? They would look better and since sunrise in the east side is so early the sun comes in through the shades that are up now and the apt is very bright from so early. They're necessary in a way while sleeping.

I didn't want to get anything till I asked and made sure it was ok to put them up. I'll get nice ones to go with the apt and the furniture.

A couple of other small things if possible. The tv in the bedroom is not connected to cable so it really can't be used much. Is it a problem to add a box or connection to the bedroom..? This is totally not necessary. I am just putting it out there. We were laying in bed the other day relaxing and thought would be nice to have tv connection to watch once in a while.. ;-))

The other thing is the stereo that's in the bedroom. Is there an iPod connector to that by any chance..? Just curious. If not, don't worry we have a small Bose speaker.

Ok I am very sorry for the long email. I can't tell you enough how appreciative Boris and I are.

I think we are seeing Jeffery this coming Thursday so I am sure he'll ask about what's going on and discuss the apt.

Let me know if I shout pack up my clothes and hide them in the other closet if some one else is staying here while we are gone.

Thank you so much!
Sam
