HI Larry! What fun! I think we have the same plan! My family is coming in also for Thanksgiving...but we are hoping to stay just one night (Tuesday 22nd) in NY and then head to CT....I was actually hoping for 2 apartments (parents in one, me and Ike in another) ...were you wanting one for the whole family?? 10N has a pull out sofa and could accomodate...

Basically, we would be taking all of JE's guest apartments the night of the 22nd and then once we leave on WEd., he would have 2 available if he had any guests coming in...At the moment, I don't have any guests arriving during our requested dates and it should be all fine. ..but I must admit I always get nervous as the date approaches. I hate to take one of JE's apartments when he has a guest he wants to give it to...

I normally do not ask Jeffrey anymore about apartments for myself...He has said if it's free, use it. ...but I wonder if in this case I should ask? What is your thought?

I can tell you this...last year my parents flew in for thanksgiving and we wanted to do the same thing, one night in NY, then go to CT.... at the last minute I had to get them a room on Orbitz because a friend of JE's came in.

Such a long answer! maybe I should have just called you...but to answer your question, yes, we should have an apt for your entire stay! Les
