CT Corporation

Every business has their entity management must-haves. What are yours?

With his company on an aggressive acquisition path, the Associate Corporate Counsel's resources were stretched to the limit. His most urgent need was to organize the sheer volume of entity records and provide on-demand access to corporate data for the satellite offices.

As he did his purchasing due diligence, he also found that the company needed to streamline their compliance filings, create complex organizational charts, produce customized reports, and manage ownership structure and trustee and board meetings. They needed all this backed up by a full team of experts to support data migration, implementation, training, and audits.

Read their case study to find out how their choice of the right system produced dramatic productivity gains in every workflow, from entity management to record-keeping, Board collaboration, compliance and reporting.
