And I just spoke to [REDACTED] and she says if she must she will crawl on the roof and try to unbolt these things. She knows to send a picture to my email as well as to Darren. I will follow up in the morning. Sounds like they are spread. Bit thin there.

Brice says the speakers are in a bad spot for photos lighting wise...he plans to unbolt them and move them to an area with good lighting. It will take him awhile to get them down...he says this will be the best way to get you really good photos ...

He hopes that tomorrow will be soon enough for you...if not, call him back soon because the lighting is already bad and it is just getting darker...if you can't reach him on his cell call Karen...or email me back and I will call them for you...

Darren, did you need something else??
