Dear President Obama, Why are you killing the only industry that still shines?

By Jeremy R.C. Cox
JetBrokers, Inc.

Dear Mr. President;
I wanted to take a moment to ask you 'man to man' why you have decided to single out the General Aviation Industry for your public vilification and attacks, when you yourself are such a heavy user of the services provided by this vital industry?...

Business Aircraft Should Not Be Just For The Senior Execs!

By David Wyndham
Conklin & De Decker

Senior executives at major forms do not need to be told the value of a business aircraft. But at many companies, the business aircraft seems to remain the private domain of a select few. The tangible benefits to having an aircraft can include, but are not limited to:...

NTSB Rejects Fatigue As A Defense For Violations Of Federal Aviation Regulations

By Greg Reigel
Reigel Law Firm, Ltd.

In a recent FAA enforcement action, Administrator v. Kooistra, the FAA alleged the airman committed a number of operational errors in violation of FARs 91.9(a) (requiring compliance with an aircraft's operating limitations), 91.13(a) (careless and reckless), 91.117(a)91.123(b) (requiring compliance with ATC instructions), and 91.703(a)(3) (requiring

My first trip to Oshkosh EAA AirVenture

By Cody Snyder

GlobalAir.com

Where does one begin to explain their first trip to Oshkosh, is it the journey, or the first moment they see how many people and planes there really are? My first memorable moment was the day we arrived and started the setup stage...

country to identify and correct an unsafe condition on an aviation product. The MCAI describes the unsafe condition as: Recently, a Dassault Aviation Falcon 7X aeroplane experienced an uncontrolled pitch trim runaway during descent. The crew succeeded in recovering a stable situation and performed an uneventful landing. This condition, if occurring again, could lead to a loss of control of the aeroplane...

AD ID: 2011-15-11

Effective Date: 09/06/2011

SUMMARY: We are adopting a new airworthiness directive (AD) for the products listed above. This AD requires inspecting the wings for internal and external damage, repairing any damage, reinforcing the wings, installing operational limitation placards in the cockpit, and adding limitations to the airplane flight manual supplement. This AD was prompted by a review of installed Flint Aero, Inc. wing tip auxiliary fuel tanks, Supplemental Type Certificate (STC) SA5090NM. We are issuing this AD to detect and correct damage in the wings and to prevent overload failure of the wing due to the installation of the STC. Damage in the wing or overload failure of the wing could result in structural failure of the wing, which could result in loss of control...
