Hi Jessica...I know you are out today...but I wanted you to know I finally was able to download the transcribing stuff and upload to castingwords...i was freaking out cause i couldnt make it work yesterday...kept calling our IT guy leaving crazy messages (feeling very inept) but he was not available...come to find out it is because I was working at home on my old pc computer...i come in to the office today with my fancy new apple computer and it worked like a charm...

so stress is over and it is being done now...as soon as i receive the email from casting words, I will forward to you...should be tomorrow i guess!

I hope this doesn't all drive you bananas now..I know you have the hard part ahead of you!

Take care and I hope you have fun at your event today.

Lesley :)
