Absolutley not. I know what you mean when you say your heart hurts for him. It is a difficult position he is in unfortunately. But there are lots and lots of people like him all working, so he can too! Just need to find the proper avenue to find that job! I felt bad I didn't get to read his whole resume. But he can start with this. He should maybe put up flyers downtown in the wallstreet area advertising his service. We can talk tomorrow!
